ROOSEVELT IN NEW PLEA TO TAX U. S. PAY

Congress Message Asks Removal of Exemptions From Federal Salaries, Bonds.

WOULD BOOST REVENUES

President Declares Proposed Program Would Increase Income $300,000,000.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt today renewed his request that congress pass legislation removing tax exemption privileges from future government salaries and bonds.

He also requested action before March 15 to bar retroactive federal income levies on state officers and bondholders whose income had been regarded as exempt from federal taxation until recent decisions by the U. S. supreme court.

Committee Studies Plan.

The president's special message renewed recommendations made last spring. A senate committee already is considering the tax exemption question. Treasury witnesses told the committee yesterday that federal revenues ultimately might be increased by more than $300,000,000 by removal of the tax exempton privilege.

Mr. Roosevelt said that present tax exemption privileges rest not on constitutional requirements but on judicial decisions which, he pointed out, are now in the process of re-examination by the supreme court.

"... fair and effective progressive income tax and a huge perpetual reserve of tax-exempt bonds could not exist side by side," Mr. Roosevelt said. "Those who earn their livelihood from government should bear the same tax burden as those who earn their livelihood in private employment."

Legislation Needed.

Pointing to supreme court decisions which have broadened the federal tax powers over incomes of quasi-state employes, the president declared that "it is obvious that these inequities can not be satisfactorily corrected by judicial decisions alone."

He noted that until the recent series of supreme court opinions many employes of state agencies and holders of public securities considered themselves exempt from federal taxation.

Jewish Dentists In Germany Lose Practice Rights

BERLIN — (U.P.) — The government decreed today that diplomas of Jewish dentists, veterinarians and druggists were to be voided, effective Jan. 31. It was assumed that those affected would no longer be qualified as professional graduates.

It was decreed also that Jewish nurses and assistants should be permitted henceforth to practice only among Jews or in Jewish institutions.

The ministry of interior, in issuing the decree, ruled that Jewish dentists might be exempted from the ban on practice, but that even if the ban were removed they could practice only among Jews.

TAYLOR WARNS LIQUOR DEALERS

New Director Says Prohibition 'Not Far Away.'

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Ohio's new liquor director, Jacob B. Taylor, today warned liquor interests that "prohibition is not far away unless you read the handwriting on the wall."

"If you want honest enforcement," he advised the Buckeye Brewers' association last nihgt, "you will get it, but it will be unremitting enforcement. We need your co-operation and we are going to use every means to get it."

DIVORCE NEARS

Mrs. Gable To Sue Film Hero Soon, Hollywood Hears.

HOLLYWOOD —(INS)— Clark Gable, the actor, and his wife Ria Gable, separated for more than three years, may be divorced immediately, it was reported today.

Mrs. Gable will sue for the divorce, and an announcement was expected to be made tomorrow by her attorneys regarding her plans to file a petition, thereby paving the way for the marriage of Gable to Carole Lombard, blond film star.

SNOW IN MIDDLEWEST

CHICAGO —(AP)— Light snow covered parts of the middle west today while sub-zero temperatures chilled the Dakotas. Twelve below at Aberdeen, S. D., last night was the coldest reported in the nation.

Asked for Movie Job; Gets Lead!

It's easy to see why Susan Hayward, former New York model, was given a screen role in Hollywood when she merely applied at a studio and asked for a job. But Susan received not a minor role—she was given the lead in a new picture opposite Gary Cooper!

Sign Calls Medina 'Dump Ground' for Cuyahoga Garbage

MEDINA—(U.P.)—A billboard on U. S. route 42, announcing to motorists that they are entering Medina county, "Home of the Garbage-Fed Hog, Dumping Ground for Cuyahoga County Garbage," started a controversy today among rural residents of the county.

Neighbors of F. H. Harper, who feeds his pigs garbage collected in Cleveland and Cleveland Heights, have objected strenuously to the odors coming from his farm and to what they regard an unsanitary condition.

The sign, 32 by 8 feet, was erected on the estate of Elmer Eyssen, vice president of a Cleveland hardware firm. Eyssen said the man who painted the sign had difficulty in completing his task because of the smell from Harper's farm.

A month ago Cleveland Heights awarded Harper a contract to dispose of its garbage on his pig farm in Brunswick township. He receives $1,800 a year under the contract.

Harper said he fattened his stock on garbage because "pigs like garbage."

SEA SERPENT?

30-Foot Skeleton Washed to Shore in Massachusetts.

PROVINCETON, Mass.—(U.P.)—A skeleton 30 feet long, with 71 sections, complete with vertebrae, legjoints and a toothless skull, has been washed ashore near the Wood End coast guard station.

The tail, coast guards reported, is missing, but midway in the trunk, bones of what might have been frog-like feet protrude. In the center of the skull is a round hole.

Old-timers believed the skeleton that of the famous Provincetown "sea serpent" of 1886. Boatswain Addison Ormsby, commander of the Wood End coast guard station, would not subscribe to this theory, but said:

"We have never seen anything like it before. I don't think it could have been a whale or a black fish."

LISTS WAR TOLL

Chinese Claim Jap Planes Killed 35,175, Wounded 44,050.

SHANGHAI—(AP)—The Chinese National Relief Commission reported today that Japanese warplanes had killed 35,175 Chinese civilians and wounded 44,050 in Chinese cities and towns in the 17 months ending November 30, 1938.

It was emphasized these figures did not include casualties in villages and rural areas.

MAYOR STUDIES CHIEF'S REPORT

Plans to Call in Bates Friday or Saturday to Discuss 'Apparent Laxity.'

Police Chief Meade K. Bates will be called before city officials either tomorrow or Saturday to explain what was termed yesterday as "apparent laxity" in the police department, Mayor Claude M. Hunter said today.

The mayor said he planned to study the department's 1938 report before summoning Bates. He said the conference might be held tomorrow if he is able to find the time today to go over the report. If he does not, the hearing will be postponed until Saturday.

He indicated today that one of the chief considerations would be the department's record in traffic arrests, which showed a 40 per cent drop from the 1937 figures.

"This item particularly seems to indicate a lack of enforcement," the mayor said, "and I plan to ask the chief for a detailed explanation of it."

The report showed 2,905 traffic arrests for the year, as compared with 4,325 during 1937.

Only 126 traffic fines were collected during October and November of last year, 55 in October and 71 in November. The combined total for those two months was below the total for any preceding month during the year. In February alone, more than 800 fines were collected.

Bates continued to remain silent concerning the mayor's action until after the conference.

COASTING CRASH VICTIM GAINING

Seven-Year-Old, on Sled, Collides With Automobile.

The condition of Harvey Weigler, 7, son of Mrs. Harold Armstrong, 7 France street, who is confined to General hospital with scalp injuries suffered when he collided with a car while coasting at 7 p. m. yesterday, was reported as "good" at noon today by the attending physician.

The youth suffered scalp lacerations and bruises, and bruises about the body according to hospital attendants. He was injured when the sled on which he was coasting on Springmill street, collided with a car driven by Lloyd Friend, Averill avenue, according to Deputy Sheriff Joseph R. Hetler.

Friend was driving across the intersection of Geddes avenue when the youth coasted out of Springmill street into the car, Hetler reported.

TAX RATES SET, COLLECTIONS FACING DELAY

Reappraisal to Set Start of Payment Period Back to February, Says Kolb.

CITY'S CHARGE REDUCED

Lexington Bill Highest in County, Sharon Township Has Lowest Figure.

County Treasurer John E. Kolb published the new real estate tax rates for county subdivisions today, but he predicted the property tax collection would not begin until late in February.

The collection period, which ordinarily would start before Jan. 20, will be delayed at least a month because of the property reappraisal last year and the extra work required to adjust valuations.

Expect Drop In Sales Tax.

Because of an anticipated reduction in the county's sales tax receipts this year, the general fund tax rate for the county was increased from 1.80 mills to 2 mills. The boost will produce about $18,000 more for county government, Deputy Auditor Arthur S. Beck said.

New rates in 20 of the county's 47 taxing districts are lower than last year, while increases are shown in 18 and nine are unchanged. Taxes will be collected on a property valuation of $90,000,000.

City's Rate Drops.

Mansfield's rate dropped .40 of a mill under last year to 15 mills, due principally to a reduction in bond retirements needs.

Despite a $550,000 school bond issue voted last September, Mansfield's school rate dropped off from 7.90 to 7.40 mills. The decrease is the result of a reduction in old bonds, it was said. The first payment on the new bonds will not be due until 1940.

Rates throughout the county districts range from a high of 22.40 in Lexington to 8.80 mills in Sharon township which last year had one of the lowest rates in Ohio. The township's rate was boosted from 5.80 mills last year to 8.80 mills to provide additional operating expenses.

The greatest reduction this year was 4 mills in the Bellville rate which dropped from 21.40 mills last year to 17.40. Expiration of an operating levy and a smaller bonded indebtedness accounted for the drop.

Seven of the eight cities and villages in the county reduced the operating rates this year, with only Shiloh retaining its 5.40 mills collected last year.

The Bellville levy decreased from 11.60 to 8 mills; Lucas from 6.20 to 6; Mansfield from 4.97 to 4.87; Plymouth from 3.35 to 2.95; Shelby from 5.55 to 5.25; Lexington from 8.40 to 8; and Butler from 8 mills to 7.80.

3-WAY ATTACK

Franco's Army, 32 Miles From Barcelona, Presses Ahead.

HENDAYE—(U.P.)—Spanish nationalist forces opened a new phase of the Catalonian offensive today with a three-point drive aimed at Igualada, Villafranca and Vendrell, key towns in their path toward Barcelona.

The nationalists asserted that they were but 32 miles from Barcelona at the nearest point.

A United Press dispatch from Barcelon quoted Gen. Juan Sarrabia, loyalist commander in chief on the Catalonian front, as saying after a tour of the front lines:

"We can await the results of this battle with confidence. Obviously the situation is difficult. At the same time the strain of three and a half weeks of fighting is leaving the invaders exhausted."

WINS $500 BALM

Jury Fixes Price In Lima Breach of Promise Suit.

LIMA — (U.P.) — Mrs. Genevieve Etter of Philadelphia today had a jury's award of $500 in her $100,000 breach of promise suit against Charles Samuel Armstrong, Lima draftsman. She charged they had lived together five years as husband and wife.

During hearing of the suit, counsel for both argued that they had broken the seventh and ninth commandments but the judge instructed the jury to pay no attention to such arguments.

WOULD SELL EYE

Pennsylvania Domestic Says She'll Accept $25,000 Offer.

CHESTER, Pa.—(U.P.)—Mrs. Cary Brown, 52, a domestic, today offered to sell one of her eyes for $25,000 to gain "a few home comforts, as I am tired of working so hard."

"I have very good eyes and the highest blood test," she said. "I would give one of my eyes to some blind person if they would pay me a few thousand dollars. Selling an eye shouldn't be any different than trying to sell a second-hand bedroom suite."

Wierman Loses Engineer Post In Economy Wave

Facing Trial In Spy Case

Charged with espionage, two men and a woman prepare to go on trial in Los Angeles federal court Feb. 21. The three are Mikhail Nicholas Gorin, Pacific coast head of Intourist, Inc., official Soviet travel agency; his wife, Natasha, and Hafis Salich, former agent of the United States naval intelligence. All three entered pleas of not guilty at their arraignment after defense motions to quash the indictments on various statutory grounds were denied. Gorin and his wife are shown in court as they pleaded not guilty.

South's 'Slickest Crooks' Confess Cleveland Crimes

Brothers, Blamed for Series of Abductions, Holdups, Took Part In Air Races, Stayed to Enrich Selves.

CLEVELAND—(INS)—A review of Cleveland holdups and abductions in the last six months was started by police today in their effort to further trace the career of two brothers who came here from New Orleans and engaged in a series of robberies.

The brothers, Payton Wilson, 28, of New Orleans, and Quentin Wilson, 22, of Biloxi, Miss., came here to take part in the National Air Races late last summer and stayed on to enrich themselves at the expense of their holdup victims.

Police said the Wilsons had been guests several times at the home of an air race official, who was questioned. Detective George Smyth said the pair identified themselves falsely as "sons of the Wilsons who have a meat packing house in Chicago."

Sought In South.

In addition to their crimes in Cleveland and its suburbs, the men are wanted in New Orleans for a series of robberies that netted them over $7,000 and ended in the shooting of New Orleans Chief of Detectives John J. Grosch.

Grosch characterized the brothers as "the slickest pair of crooks that ever came out of the south."

Among the robberies police attributed to the brothers were the abduction of a Lakewood automobile salesman, who was forced to ride around in the trunk of his own car, and the robbery of two women while the brothers had the salesman's automobile.

The men also are charged with the hotel room holdup of Hugh B. Todd, Pittsburgh internal revenue agent. Todd's badge and $61 were

'STRIP TEASE' DANCER BALKS

Kansas City Girl Fears Operation Would Spoil Her 'Art.'

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—(U.P.)—As far as her appendix is concerned, doctors said today, Betty Fallon, 18, will continue to be the "perfect specimen of femininity" in her routine as a strip tease dancer.

Miss Fallon refused to permit an operation yesterday when she was taken to a hospital. She said a scar would "spoil her chances of getting ahead" in her career. Physicians told her she might be endangering her life. They planned to keep her under observation for a few days but believed an immediate operation was not necessary.

CHARM FAILS HIM

Check Forger Says Rabbit Foot Let Him Down.

Gets Divorce With No Strings Attached.

MEDIA, Pa.—(AP)—Mrs. Margaret Holz, 23, testified in her divorce suit that, when her husband went to work, he stretched strings across the front and back porches. If on returning, he found a string broken, she said, he would accuse her of having men visitors. She got the divorce—with no strings attached.

HIT BY BOMB

Hotel Where Chamberlain's Son Stayed Damaged.

TRAILEE, Ireland—(AP)—A violent explosion today at the rear of a hotel at which Frank Chamberlain, son of the British prime minister, was staying shattered hundreds of windows and damaged the hotel walls.

Chamberlain, 25, who lives in Birmingham, Eng., was on a vacation in Ireland. He was uninjured.

Police worked on the theory that the outlawed Irish Republican army, which is blamed for a series of explosions in England Monday and Tuesday, also was responsible for this latest blast.

The explosion was believed in some quarters to have been an attempt to kill the British prime minister's son. It was disclosed that young Chamberlain had been guarded by three detectives since his arrival here Monday.

OFFICERS EXONERATED

RAVENNA—(AP)—A report by the Portage county grand jury today exonerated Sheriff Robert Fitzgerald and Prosecutor Theodore Tilden of alleged protection of slot machine operations.

Resident Highway Official Told He's Through Jan. 25; "Next High Man" To Hold Job Temporarily Until State Department's Revamped.

(Picture on Page 4)

Boyd W. Wierman, Richland county resident state highway engineer, lost his job today, a victim of the Republican administration's economy wave.

Wierman, a Democrat, has held the resident engineer's post since the office was opened here in February, 1931. His dismissal, ordered by State Highway Director Robert S. Beightler, is effective Wednesday, Jan. 25.

The brief order said: "Your services as resident engineer are being terminated Jan. 25."

Beightler told The News-Journal today that the engineer's office would be retained here temporarily with "the next man under Wierman serving as temporary engineer until a new division is set up."

Wierman said the next highest man in his office probably would be Joseph D. Dune, timekeeper in the county for the past six years. Beightler said the temporary appointment would be made by the division engineer.

He added that Richland county probably would be included with two or three other counties in a new district to be headed by a man recommended by Murray D. Shaffer, engineer in the Ashland division, which now includes Richland county.

Beightler said a bill to reorganize the state highway set-up and calling for elimination of most of the county resident engineers will be introduced in the state legislature. The measure would increase the number of divisions and turn the local highway administration over to division engineers.

"County resident engineers have been figure heads in most sections of the state, and abolishing their positions will bring a marked economy without impairing the operation of the highway department," Beightler asserted.

Anticipating the dismissal, Wierman plans to open an office at 262 West Fourth street where he will do private engineering work.

"It was no surprise, and I was ready for it," he said.

Appointed to the resident engineer's post in January, 1931, Wierman took charge of the office here when it was opened a month later. He was named by former Director O. W. "Whitey" Merrell.

Wierman has been affiliated with the county and state highway departments for 21 years. He was Richland county surveyor from 1917 to 1921 and for the next four years was engineer for the Ohio River Scenic Highway association in eastern Ohio.

The county resident engineer's office here, which is under the supervision of the Division 3 office at Ashland, is in the Walpark building.

Clare McLaughlin of Loudonville was one of the 96 state liquor inspectors who had been dismissed today in reorganization of the liquor department, press dispatches from Columbus said.

Another was Allen A. George of Kent, well known in Richland county and Mansfield.

RENEWS SEWER SURVEY DEMAND

State Says City Must Act on Setting Up Program Before It'll O. K. Extensions.

The state department of health today renewed its request to city officials that a comprehensive sewer survey be made in Mansfield.

F. H. Waring, chief engineer for the state health department, informed city officials that city council would have to give serious consideration to the matter of financing a "proper survey" before the sewerage needs of the city could be carried forward.

The state department of health in the past has repeatedly called upon the city to provide funds for a comprehensive survey of the sewer system and twice in the past year has turned down requests for approval of extensions in the system because council has been unable to provide survey funds.

Waring's letter was in answer to a communication sent by City Engineer W. C. Statler informing the state department that city council had set up $500 in the annual appropriations bill to begin the survey. Statler asked approval for the third time on the Barnard avenue sewer extension that has been rejected twice.

Waring pointed out that there was "no question" but that the extensions were badly needed in the Barnard avenue area and also in other sections of Mansfield.

He explained however, that city council had been informed on "several different occasions" that extensions for any area in the city could not be properly designed until the comprehensive plan of development had been affected.

Statler said that he has had the survey, which has been estimated to cost $7,000, under way for several months, but has been unable to make much progress because of limited funds.

DENIES SHAKEUP

Nazi Press Chief Personally Gives Story to Correspondent.

BERLIN—(AP)—The press chief of the German government, Dr. Otto Dietrich, today took the unusual step of personally issuing to foreign correspondents a complete, emphatic and categorical denial that any cabinet changes were contemplated either now or at any time in the near future.

Rumors of impending changes had become so general that a denial was deemed necessary.

BLOCKS 'GRAB'

Sherwood Cancels Orders for 75,000 Tons of Coal.

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Charges that the Davey administration ordered 75,000 tons of coal for state institutions before leaving office were hurled today by State Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood.

Sherwood said he was immediately cancelling all orders "he could find out about." Many of the orders were placed by requisition and by telephone, the welfare director declared, and added:

"It was just a final grab for legal graft and is just another sample of what went on."

If the 75,000 tons of coal were divided up evenly among the state's 23 institutions, Sherwood estimated each institution would have approximately 100 cars of coal.

GO TO CAPITAL

Frankfurter, Wife Arrive; Plans To Take Oath Jan. 30.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Felix Frankfurter, newly confirmed associate justice of the supreme court, said today he "will probably take the oath" of office Jan. 30, when the high tribunal reconvenes after a two weeks' recess.

The former Harvard law professor and Mrs. Frankfurter, who came to the capital by train from Boston, posed smilingly for news photographers.

4 BOYS JAILED

Hamilton Quartet Blamed For Holdup Murder.

HAMILTON —(INS)— Four youths, ranging in age from 16 to 19, will be arraigned before Mayor Herbert Davis, of nearby New Miami, tomorrow night on first degree murder charges in connection with the slaying of William Simpson, 64-year-old marshal, Prosecutor Paul Baden announced today.

Simpson was wounded fatally in a gun battle which followed discovery of an attempt to rob a New Miami cafe.

Relief Picture Brightens As 'Matching' Provision's Dropped

The 1939 relief picture in Mansfield and Richland county brightened today as Gov. John W. Bricker indicated he would ask the state legislature to delete the "matching" requirement from the administration's $5,000,000 emergency relief bill.

Stern opposition from the state's larger cities which said they had no funds for matching state relief allocations is believed to have doomed the 50-50 matching plan.

While legislators wrestled with the relief problem at Columbus, Richland county officials were pleased over the prospect of outright state relief grants this year for caring for the county's needy families.

"A direct allocation from the state in accordance with the subdivisions' relief needs appears the most logical method of meeting the situation," County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe said.

"All the matching that we have done in the past has been on paper and it meant no more than a lot of red tape, because Mansfield and Richland county had no money to put up for matching," the auditor asserted.

The matching requirement would seriously handicap every major subdivision in the county in providing relief this year, he pointed out, since most of them have borrowed against anticipated collections of state taxes and would

Senate Debates Today, Votes on Hopkins Confirmation Friday

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — The senate discusses today the qualifications of Harry L. Hopkins as secretary of commerce. The debate was expected to be long and bitter but the vote on whether to confirm his nomination to President Roosevelt's cabinet, was expected to be affirmative, with not more than 30 senators voting in opposition.

The vote may be delayed until tomorrow by the length and number of speeches planned for and against confirmation.

Opposition leaders, basing their position on Hopkins' methods as relief administrator, claimed, "at least 18" Republican and "five or six" conservative Democratic votes.

After a strictly partisan vote yesterday, 13 to 6, the senate commerce committee reported Hopkins' nomination favorably. Chairman Josiah W. Bailey, D., N. C., was excused from voting and participating in today's debate because he has had personal differences with Hopkins.

Sen. Walter F. George, D., Ga., who was opposed by President Roosevelt for re-nomination, may lead the Democratic attack on the former WPA chief. George has told friends that he felt "very bitter" over Hopkins' alleged participation in the administration's attempts to retire him.

Republican opposition probably will be led by Sens. Hiram W. Johnson, Calif., H. Styles Bridges, N. H., Arthur H. Vandenburg, Mich., and Wallace H. White, jr., Me.

Ontario-Madison Game Heads County Schedule Friday

Keep Wooster College In Ohio Conference Race

Coach Mose Hole has given Wooster another basketball team which is ranked with the best in the state's college circles. Hole has placed his dependence upon seven Scots, pictured here with him. They are, from left to right, Dave Henderson, Cliff Smith, Coach Hole, Frank Gernert, Dick Gernert, Bob Bruce, Pudge Hole (the Wooster coach's son) and John Mack. Four of these cagers, Henderson, Smith, Bruce and Mack, are lettermen. The other three are sophomores.

Carded On Ram Planks

Butler Plays at Lexington in Another Important League Tussle.

THERE will not be enough seats in the Madison high school gym Friday night to accommodate all the followers of Richland county league play who will want to witness the Rams' tussle with Ontario.

No rivalry in the county circuit can hold a candle to the Madison-Ontario series, which has developed into a regular Army-Navy rivalry, only on a smaller scale, of course.

Game Promises Action.

This season's second meeting promises as many fireworks as have ever been exploded in the series, and anything can happen—and usually does. Madison won the first game, 36 to 23, winning with a last period rally.

Friday night's game presents a perfect setup for an upset. Madison, sporting six straight county league triumphs, is favored, to be sure, but the Warriors are expected to be primed for their stiffest battle of the season.

Ontario found it difficult to gain a winning stride early in the season, but it has been rolling along in championship fashion in recent weeks.

Ontario and Madison, incidentally, are the only clubs which have beaten Butler this year, and there is no chance to compare the strength of the two clubs on their games with the Bulldogs. They both won by a point, with Ontario being forced into an overtime period to win.

Another game which promises action will take Butler to Lexington. The Bulldogs, who regained their winning stride after two straight defeats against Lucas Tuesday, will find a formidable foe in Lexington, where Coach Johnny Reece has developed a dangerous quintet.

Bellville goes to Lucas for the other county league game Friday, while Lexington performs at Union Saturday. Union will meet the Mansfield high reserves at the Tygers' gym Friday. Simpson junior high faces another Tyger reserve team in the other game at Mansfield high.

Plymouth, which suffered its first defeat Saturday in a non-league game with Attica, goes to North Fairfield Friday to defend its Twin-Valley league lead. Shiloh is host to Adario.

Ashland at Bucyrus.

Ashland, current N. C. O. leader, travels to Bucyrus Friday, while Shelby entertains Galion and Marion invades Mt. Vernon. Shelby goes to Norwalk and Fostoria performs at Marion Saturday.

Crestline will also be busy this week-end. The Onondagas perform at Marion St. Mary's Friday and at Mt. Gilead Saturday.

Cohen Seeks Tie-Up With Cleveland Indians

A WORKING agreement with the Cleveland Indians may be obtained for the Mansfield club in the Ohio State league of Norman Cohen, Toledo attorney, operates a team in this city.

This was learned from Cohen last night when he met with a committee of the Junior Association of Commerce in regard to a campaign to dispose of season tickets.

Cohen stated that he has communicated with officials of the Cleveland club, but no definite agreement over a tie-up has been reached.

The Toledoan said he expected to learn definitely by next week whether or not Cleveland is interested in the Mansfield club to the extent of providing playing material.

Cohen has not exercised the option he holds on the franchise forfeited by the Boston Red Sox, but plans to attend Friday night's Ohio State league meeting in Findlay and inform the officers of the circuit that Mansfield is "virtually set."

The possibility of the Junior Chamber of Commerce conducting a season ticket campaign for the club was discussed at a meeting held by the executive board with Cohen last night.

Prior to the meeting, Cohen showed motion pictures of the Toledo university football games to members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Cohen was accompanied to Mansfield by Ollie Marquardt, who managed Clinton in the Three-I league last season.

HONEYBOY JONES WOWS 'EM IN EAST; OHIO'S A CAGE STATE, TOO.

By OSCAR RUHL
News-Journal Sports Editor.

HONEYBOY JONES, who got his fistic start under "Slim" Gossom, is really wowing 'em in Pittsburgh, where he now makes his home. His one-round knockout of Jackie Baratko of Cleveland the other night boosted his stock. The ex-Mansfielder, incidentally, is a stablemate of John Henry Lewis, who will be Joe Louis' next foe. And the Louis fight will be Lewis' 110th . . . Detroit has offered Sixto Escobar $7,500 to defend his bantam title against Kayo Morgan, but the Puerto Rico scrapper wants to take it back to his native country. The last champion Morgan fought was Panama Al Brown, and the fight was stopped, called "no contest!" Morgan was scared to death. We happened to see this effort.

Ex-Relays Champs On All-America.

MEL WALKER, who won several Mansfield Relay championships a few years ago while attending Toledo Libbey, has just been selected to the All-America track and field team for 1938. He's an Ohio Stater now. . . . The first Ohio State league product to reach the big leagues is Johnny Lucadello, who finished the season at third base for the St Louis Browns He played with Fostoria three years ago. . . Indiana is regarded as The basketball state, but Ohio has more high school teams. There are 1137 high school teams listed in the state . . . It didn't pay Sandusky to "freeze" the ball against Tiffin Columbian the other night. With a couple of minutes to go, a Tiffin forward stole the ball and whipped it to a teammate, who scored the winning basket. And the Blue Streaks never got over the shock.

Yanks Will Take Heath for Keller.

OSCAR VITT is pretty well sold on Charley Keller, the Yankee's new outfielder, whom he piloted while at Newark. And Vitt has just been offered a chance to get him. All the Yankees wanted in return was Jeff Heath. . . . Sammy Hale, the Indians' second sacker, was the only American league player to hit for the cycle in 1938 Sammy hit a single, double, triple and home run against Washington, July 12. . . .

Billiards Seek Eighth Victory

The Rex Billiards seek their eighth straight Senior A league victory tonight when they meet the Raemelton Farm cagers in the final game on the program at the Friendly House. The Billiards, whose only defeat came in a game with the Ontario Ex-Hys last week, has won 17 straight league games over a two-year period.

The leaders came through last night's games in the Class A Church league at the Y. M. C. A. without a scratch.

With the front-running First Lutherans setting the pace, the first division teams marked up triumphs over lower bracket foes, and only one of the three games was really a contest.

The Lutherans galloped without effort over the St. John Evangelical club, which played with only four men. The final score was 34 to 11, with the Lutherans leading 23 to 9 at the half. Huffman was high for the winners with 10 points.

Mayflower Congregational remained in a tie for second place with First M. E., which won on a forfeit from Temple Emanuel, by taking Episcopal into camp by a 25 to 21 count. This was the most exciting game on the bill.

The Mayflower cagers jumped into a 13 to 8 lead in the first half, but the Episcopals rallied in the third period to knot the score, 16-all. Mayflower outscored its foe by four points in the final period to cinch the decision. Miles scored 10 points for the winners.

Led by Denzel's 12 points, Park Avenue Baptist trimmed Central M. E., 26 to 18, the Baptists leading 17 to 6 at the half. The Baptists coasted in the second half.

Unbeaten Eagles Face Test Tonight

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Unbeaten in eight starts and possessing an offensive average of 50 points per game, Ashland college tonight faces a stern test when its basketball team encounters Kent State.

The tilt, an Ohio conference headliner, will offer the Eagles currently leading contenders for the state cage title, a chance to prove their real strength. The game will probably reveal also whether or not Ashland's shaky defense has sufficiently improved to make the balance of the season's outlook brighter.

Although Kent has been beaten three times, that factor is not so much against it as revelation that Coach "Rosie" Starn apparently fired his star guard for 'lack of interest."

Reserves, Simpson Triumph

Tygers Defeat Perrysville; Bulldogs Halt Freds.

ALLOWING only one basket in the first three periods, the Simpson Junior high school courtmen whipped Fredericktown high school varsity, 18 to 10, on the Mansfield high court last night, while the Mansfield reserves defeated Perrysville, 27 to 20.

The Bulldogs permitted the Freddies a field goal and two free throws in the first period, and then held the visitors scoreless until the final quarter.

Fredericktown added six points in the fourth frame while holding the Simpsonites scoreless. The Bulldogs coasted in the last quarter on the 18 to 4 lead it held at the finish of the third chapter.

Hager and Shiplet, with six points apiece, led the Simpson scoring. Fredericktown was permitted only three baskets.

A big third period enabled the junior Tygers to take the measure of the Perrysville quintet. The visitors obtained a 6 to 4 lead in the first period, but Mansfield knotted the count 12-all at the half.

In the third period, the reserves scored 12 points while limiting Perrysville to four. This lead enabled the reserves to coast through the final quarter

Budge, Vines Duel In Arena Tonight

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Don Budge, the red-haired Californian who captured all the amateur tennis titles in sight and then recently turned professional, will play Ellsworth Vines at the Cleveland Arena tonight.

The Vines-Budge duel will be one of the series the pair is playing on a barnstorming tour of the nation. Dick Skeen of Hollywood and Bruce Barnes of Austin, Tex., will play a singles match preliminary to the Vines-Budge meeting, and the four will hook up in a doubles match.

Tony Expected to Make Quick Work of Brescia.

NEWARK, N. J.—(AP)—The amazing Tony Galento will waddle into the Newark armory ring tonight and in three or four rounds belt out Jorge Brescia, an amiable Argentine who once won game by smacking Joseph Louis on the chops.

Brescia, who will weight 210 to Tony's 235 or thereabouts for the ten-round bout, has the sporting chance of a steer in the stockyards. Galento has been named the No. 1 challenger for Louis' heavyweight title by the National Boxing association and to date he has fought no one who might endanger the rating.

Sonny Meder Rolls 699 Doubles Series

Pairs With Neil Swank to Hang Up High 1228 Total; Ed Forman Leads Westinghouse League.

ONE PIN knocked Clarence (Sonny) Meder out of a 700 series while bowling in the Class A Doubles league at the Meder alleys last night.

Young Meder improved as the match went along. He started with a 202, piled up a 239 and finished his 699 series with a fat 258.

Paired with Neil Swank, who shot a 529, Meder and his partner collected the high total of 1228, which was good for three wins over the Fred McKinley-Cliff Forsythe duo.

Jack Applan was second high in the individual scoring with a snappy 670, which included games of 245, 221 and 204. Applan and his partner, Carl Heilman, whipped up an 1197 total and a clean sweep over the Cleckner brothers, Winnie and Dale, taking the last by one pin.

Sporting a 619, Burdette rolled a 619 as he and his mate, Funston, took two tilts from Joe Cheney and Duke Weber.

Ed Forman of the Shipping No. 1 team rolled a 610 game to set the individual scoring pace in the Westinghouse league. Forman added scores of 220, 202 and 188.

No Job for Babe On Yankee Club

NEW YORK —(U.P.)— Edward G. Borrow, new president of the New York Yankees, indicated today that the club had no job for Babe Ruth, whose potent bat helped keep Yankee stadium turnstiles clicking for many years.

Barrow, elected head of the club following the death of owner-president Col. Jacob Ruppert last week, was asked: "What about Ruth?" He smiled and said: "I naturally haven't had time to think about the Babe, yet. So I can't very well answer that question. However, our organization is quite complete now, and I believe very competent."

Toledo, Heidelberg In Freak 'Tie' Court Game

(By Associated Press)

OUT of the welter of Ohio collegiate basketball comes a "tie" game, despite rules to the contrary.

Heidelberg's inspired Student Princes playing the home court at Tiffin, battled the surprised University of Toledo Rockets last night to what the official box score showed as a 48-all tie. Confusion contributed to the paradox.

The scoreboard recorded a 48 to 47 victory for Toledo at the end of the second half The crowd filed from the gym Players retired to their dressing rooms.

Then game officials discovered that the Heidelberg score book—under the rules, the official one—carried a box score in which each quintet was credited with 48 markers.

Investigation disclosed that Shellhouse, Heidelberg guard, received credit in the official box for making good three out of five free throws. However, the accompanying running score, recorded in the same book, showed Shellhouse had taken but four gift shots and collected on only two of them.

Yet the rules of the game stipulate that the home school's box score is official, without reference to a running score.

Four or five unofficial score books of newspaper men agreed with the scoreboard's 48-to-47 win for the Toledo aggregation.

Clarence W. "Doc" Spears, Toledo athletic director, declared after the fluke was discovered that his team could meet Heidelberg to decide the Ohio conference battle tonight (Thursday) only, because of the Rockets' crowded schedule. Coach Ted Turney of Heidelberg indicated the Student Princes would not engage in a "play-off" tonight.

Heidelberg college officials said the issue might be decided in a post-season contest.

The most flabbergasted cager of all was Willard Swihart, Toledo center, who presumably had meshed the deciding point with a charity toss in the final seconds of play.

The Princes held keen-eyed Chuck Chuckovits, Toledo's nationally famed scorer, to 14 points. In short, they not only staged an upset—they made history.

LUTZ PUTS IN ARMORY BILL

Measure Calls for $10,000 for New Ohio National Guard Garage in City.

Ralph C. Lutz, Richland county representative to the general assembly, added new impetus today to a move to convert the old stables at the Mansfield armory into a garage when he introduced a bill in the house of representatives to appropriate $10,000 for the project.

A measure to appropriate $500,000 for the repair and construction of armories all over Ohio, including a $10,000 Mansfield expenditure was drawn up by Adjutant General Emil F. Marx of Ohio.

Located in the northeast wing of the armory, the old stable housed 36 horses and would accommodate 10 trucks if remodeled, according to Capt. Robert J. Nichols, armory board president.

Representative J. F. Church of Ashland county, introduced a bill for a $7,000 share from the $500,000 fund to build an armory garage at Ashland.

MARKET LACKS RISING VIGOR, VOLUME LIGHT

Trading Forces Await New Developments in Business, Congressional Program.

BULLETIN

NEW YORK — (AP) — Leading stocks flirted with recovery in today's market after the majority had drifted fractionally downward in the forenoon. Traders seemed faintly encouraged by the exceptional lightness of selling.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Stocks generally resumed the retreat in today's market although exceptional lightness of volume was a mildly encouraging factor for recovery proponents.

While Wall Street seemed a little less apprehensive over foreign affairs, trading forces apparently were unwilling to reach for favorites pending more light on business and the congressional program.

Lacking rising vigor were General Motors, Chrysler, Bethlehem Steel, Goodyear, Montgomery Ward, Douglas Aircraft, Anaconda, American Telephone, Westinghouse, N. Y. Central and Southern Railway.

Bonds and commodities were rather spotty. Foreign securities markets were quiet and without definite trends.

Market analysts studied reports which indicated the recession in business this month likely would be of only normal seasonal proportions. A decline in automobile production from last month's level was seen as the principal cause of the recession.

Notice was taken of expressions from leading trust company officials in which some hope was seen for improvement in commercial lending this year if business turns upward later. Officials pointed out, though, that the same factors which made earning money difficult in 1938 still were present.

BEVENS BLASTS AT FERGUSON

Charges Auditor "Deliberately Misleads" Ohio By Attacks.

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Charges that State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson is "deliberately misleading Ohio's citizens" in his attacks on the division of aid for the aged were hurled today by Wray Bevens, chief of that division.

The auditor had charged that the rebudgeting of aid for the aged payments was an attempt on the part of the Davey appointed old age pension chief to bring ridicule on Ferguson's methods of handling the checks, and that "each change cost the state $5."

Transaction Tax To Pay Texas $30 Pensions Brews Hot Fight

(By Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Tex.—Amazed Texas lawmakers were arrayed today for a bitter fight over a proposed transaction levy which some termed more drastic than any sales tax in the nation.

The sweeping plan for financing old age pensions was suggested yesterday by Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel. If enacted it would be the first such tax in the United States.

A survey of the legislators indicated lines would be formed similar to those of former battles over the sales tax, rejected by previous legislatures.

O'Daniel's proposals included:

1. Submission to the people of an amendment to the constitution which would guarantee all persons over 65 years of age an income of $30 a month, this guarantee to be in co-operation with the federal government and the state's portion to be limited to $15.

2. Submission in the same amendment of a 1.6 per cent transaction tax.

3. Abolition of the state ad valorem tax.

O'Daniel submitted drafts of the amendment and an enabling bill to make the amendment effective.

The constitutional amendment and the bill would pay pensions to persons in need but "need" would be defined as not having an income of $30 a month.

taken, and the badge was used when the men robbed Mrs. Robert Montis and Mrs. Dorothy Gedeon after abducting Fred P. Tedrow, the automobile salesman, last Friday. The Wilsons represented themselves as detectives at the time.

The brothers also admitted a hotel room robbery in Nashville, Tenn., a short time ago, and they were questioned closely about the abduction of a Chicago salesman, H. H. Terwillinger, in his own automobile in Akron Tuesday. Using Terwillinger's car, two bandits held up a grocery store and escaped with more than $300.

The Wilsons came here when Payton Wilson, a licensed airplane pilot, was connected with the crew of the "Delgado Flash," an airplane entered in speed events of the National Air Races by the Delgado Trades school, New Orleans. Quentin Wilson was dishonorably discharged from the navy, where he was a machinist's mate, first class, detectives said.

Thief Gets $15 From Safe; Police Trail Suspect.

Police today were investigating the theft of $15 from the safe at the Y. W. C. A., 26 South Mulberry street, early last night.

Miss Margaret West, executive secretary, told police that she suspected a man who had come to the office at 5:45 p. m. and told Miss Mary Strater, a clerk in the office that he wanted to wait for his sister who was in a class.

She said that the man left a half hour later and that at 10 p. m. the theft was discovered. Police said they were told that a cash drawer containing $15 had been taken from the office safe, apparently while Miss Strater was in another part of the building.

800 See Closing Performance of School Operetta

A cast of Mansfield Senior high school players and vocalists gave the final performance of the musical comedy, "In Old Vienna," before about 800 persons last night in the school auditorium.

Benefitting by their work in two previous performances Tuesday, the student players presented a more polished entertainment last night, erasing the "rought spots" in the other two shows.

With Willis Lewis and Kathleen MacIntosh in the leading parts, the operetta concerned the search of a wealthy Englishwoman for her daughter who had been missing since infancy.

In the climax of the play, the mother, played by Marguerite Miller, finds her daughter in a gypsy camp near Vienna. Miss MacIntosh played the daughter's role.

Lewis is an American advertising man on vacation in Vienna who wins the long-lost daughter of Lady Vivian DeLancy, the Englishwoman.

Approximately 3,000 persons saw the operetta at the three performances.

JUDGE TO DECIDE WHICH OF TWO HUSBANDS WAS FATHER OF GIRL

(By United Press)

LOS ANGELES—A judge was asked today to decide which of a mother's two former husbands was the father of her daughter.

One of the men was married to the mother when the child was born; the other married her three years later, two years after her first divorce.

The second husband, Samuel Hodgdon, is present guardian of Aileen La Mae Hodgdon, 13. Mrs. Marie Tillbrook Hodgdon, her mother, in seeking custody, said Aileen was the daughter of Roy Tillbrook. In an affidavit, Tillbrook supported her, saying he believed that he was the child's father. He is a turkey raiser, now living in Washington state.

Mrs. Hodgdon took advantage of the suit to present, in the courtroom, a small copper urn to Hodgdon. It contained the ashes of his first wife. She explained that he had given her the ashes for safe keeping when they married, and that since their divorce a year ago had refused to see her.

Attorneys for Hodgdon sought to show that Aileen's mother was permanently separated from Tillbrook two days after their marriage on July 30, 1924, when he enlisted in the army. They called an army sergeant to testify that Tillbrook was transferred to Alaska duty on Aug. 1, 1924.

Aileen was born June 19, 1925. Mrs. Hodgdon denied a permanent separation from Tillbrook and said they lived "off and on," as man and wife until Sept. 7, 1927, when they were divorced.

Hodgdon, a Los Angeles manufacturer, married the former Mrs. Tillbrook on Sept. 28, 1928. He kept Aileen when they separated.

WOMAN'S DEATH PLUNGE STUDIED

Coroner Withholds Verdict in Hotel Fall of Former Aide to Senator Bulkley.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS—Dr. Edward E. Smith, coroner, today withheld a formal verdict in connection with the death of Mrs. Mabel Wright Mitchell, 48, of Barberton, who plunged from the 11th floor of the Deshler-Wallick hotel here.

Mrs. Mitchell was a secretary to former U. S. Senator Robert J. Bulkley in 1930 and 1931. She later held a position with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in Washington. She came here on Jan. 1 looking for work as a stenographer. She worked one day last week at Republican state headquarters but telephoned the next day that she was too ill to work.

Two detectives and a hotel official went to her room yesterday to investigate her reported illness. She told them to wait at the door until she dressed. While they waited, she jumped from a window to a roof eight floors below. Her back was broken and her body crushed.

Nothing was left to indicate that she had planned suicide, Dr. Smith said. Four empty whisky bottles and one partly-filled were found in her room. In her purse were 27 cents and an $84 hotel bill.

She was divorced and had no children.

The body was taken to Belpre, O., for funeral services and burial. She was a native of West Virginia.

CARRIERS HOLD SPOTLIGHT IN SLOW RECOVERY

New Rail Orders for Track Materials, Rolling Equipment Brighten Picture.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—The stock market crawled uphill at a snail's pace today.

Unable to steer by any outstanding signposts in the day's political and business news, many traders kept commitments at a minimum. Dealings were so small at times the ticker barely kept moving.

The bond market also headed upward for continuation of a slow recovery. Commodities generally showed little change.

Additional rail orders for track materials and rolling equipment drew attention to one of the current bright spots in the industrial picture.

The "Iron Age" said rail orders this year would approximate 1,000,000 tons, about double the amount rolled last year.

Reflecting the generally higher level of business activity, weekly electric power figures showed a gain of 7.3 per cent over the comparable 1938 figures against a year-to-year increase of 1.4 per cent the previous week.

ROOSEVELT IN NEW PLEA TO TAX U. S. PAY

Congress Message Asks Removal of Exemptions From Federal Salaries, Bonds.

WOULD BOOST REVENUES

President Declares Proposed Program Would Increase Income $300,000,000.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt today renewed his request that congress pass legislation removing tax exemption privileges from future government salaries and bonds.

He also requested action before March 15 to bar retroactive federal income levies on state officers and bondholders whose income had been regarded as exempt from federal taxation until recent decisions by the U. S. supreme court.

Committee Studies Plan.

The president's special message renewed recommendations made last spring. A senate committee already is considering the tax exemption question. Treasury witnesses told the committee yesterday that federal revenues ultimately might be increased by more than $300,000,000 by removal of the tax exempton privilege.

Mr. Roosevelt said that present tax exemption privileges rest not on constitutional requirements but on judicial decisions which, he pointed out, are now in the process of re-examination by the supreme court.

"A fair and effective progressive income tax and a huge perpetual reserve of tax-exempt bonds could not exist side by side," Mr. Roosevelt said. "Those who earn their livelihood from government should bear the same tax burden as those who earn their livelihood in private employment."

Legislation Needed.

Pointing to supreme court decisions which have broadened the federal tax powers over incomes of quasi-state employes, the president declared that "it is obvious that these inequities can not be satisfactorily corrected by judicial decisions alone."

He noted that until the recent series of supreme court opinions many employes of state agencies and holders of public securities considered themselves exempt from federal taxation.

Jewish Dentists In Germany Lose Practice Rights

BERLIN — (U.P.) — The government decreed today that diplomas of Jewish dentists, veterinarians and druggists were to be voided, effective Jan. 31. It was assumed that those affected would no longer be qualified as professional graduates.

It was decreed also that Jewish nurses and assistants should be permitted henceforth to practice only among Jews or in Jewish institutions.

The ministry of interior, in issuing the decree, ruled that Jewish dentists might be exempted from the ban on practice, but that even if the ban were removed they could practice only among Jews.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Ohio's new liquor director, Jacob B. Taylor, today warned liquor interests that "prohibition is not far away unless you read the handwriting on the wall."

"If you want honest enforcement," he advised the Buckeye Brewers' association last nihgt, "you will get it, but it will be unremitting enforcement. We need your co-operation and we are going to use every means to get it."

Sign Calls Medina 'Dump Ground' for Cuyahoga Garbage

MEDINA—(U.P.)—A billboard on U. S. route 42, announcing to motorists that they are entering Medina county, "Home of the Garbage-Fed Hog, Dumping Ground for Cuyahoga County Garbage," started a controversy today among rural residents of the county.

Neighbors of F. H. Harper, who feeds his pigs garbage collected in Cleveland and Cleveland Heights, have objected strenuously to the odors coming from his farm and to what they regard an unsanitary condition.

The sign, 32 by 8 feet, was erected on the estate of Elmer Eyssen, vice president of a Cleveland hardware firm. Eyssen said the man who painted the sign had difficulty in completing his task because of the smell from Harper's farm.

A month ago Cleveland Heights awarded Harper a contract to dispose of its garbage on his pig farm in Brunswick township. He receives $1,800 a year under the contract.

Harper said he fattened his stock on garbage because "pigs like garbage."

SEA SERPENT?

30-Foot Skeleton Washed to Shore in Massachusetts.

PROVINCETON, Mass.—(U.P.)—A skeleton 30 feet long, with 71 sections, complete with vertebrae, legjoints and a toothless skull, has been washed ashore near the Wood End coast guard station.

The tail, coast guards reported, is missing, but midway in the trunk, bones of what might have been frog-like feet protrude. In the center of the skull is a round hole.

Old-timers believed the skeleton that of the famous Provincetown "sea serpent" of 1886. Boatswain Addison Ormsby, commander of the Wood End coast guard station, would not subscribe to this theory, but said:

"We have never seen anything like it before. I don't think it could have been a whale or a black fish."

SHANGHAI—(AP)—The Chinese National Relief Commission reported today that Japanese warplanes had killed 35,175 Chinese civilians and wounded 44,050 in Chinese cities and towns in the 17 months ending November 30, 1938.

It was emphasized these figures did not include casualties in villages and rural areas.

MAYOR STUDIES CHIEF'S REPORT

Plans to Call in Bates Friday or Saturday to Discuss 'Apparent Laxity.'

Police Chief Meade K. Bates will be called before city officials either tomorrow or Saturday to explain what was termed yesterday as "apparent laxity" in the police department, Mayor Claude M. Hunter said today.

The mayor said he planned to study the department's 1938 report before summoning Bates. He said the conference might be held tomorrow if he is able to find the time today to go over the report. If he does not, the hearing will be postponed until Saturday.

He indicated today that one of the chief considerations would be the department's record in traffic arrests, which showed a 40 per cent drop from the 1937 figures.

"This item particularly seems to indicate a lack of enforcement," the mayor said, "and I plan to ask the chief for a detailed explanation of it."

The report showed 2,905 traffic arrests for the year, as compared with 4,325 during 1937.

Only 126 traffic fines were collected during October and November of last year, 55 in October and 71 in November. The combined total for those two months was below the total for any preceding month during the year. In February alone, more than 800 fines were collected.

Bates continued to remain silent concerning the mayor's action until after the conference.

COASTING CRASH VICTIM GAINING

Seven-Year-Old, on Sled, Collides With Automobile.

The condition of Harvey Weigler, 7, son of Mrs. Harold Armstrong, 7 France street, who is confined to General hospital with scalp injuries suffered when he collided with a car while coasting at 7 p. m. yesterday, was reported as "good" at noon today by the attending physician.

The youth suffered scalp lacerations and bruises, and bruises about the body according to hospital attendants. He was injured when the sled on which he was coasting on Springmill street, collided with a car driven by Lloyd Friend, Averill avenue, according to Deputy Sheriff Joseph R. Hetler.

Friend was driving across the intersection of Geddes avenue when the youth coasted out of Springmill street into the car, Hetler reported.

Relief Picture Brightens As 'Matching' Provision's Dropped

The 1939 relief picture in Mansfield and Richland county brightened today as Gov. John W. Bricker indicated he would ask the state legislature to delete the "matching" requirement from the administration's $5,000,000 emergency relief bill.

Stern opposition from the state's larger cities which said they had no funds for matching state relief allocations is believed to have doomed the 50-50 matching plan.

While legislators wrestled with the relief problem at Columbus, Richland county officials were pleased over the prospect of outright state relief grants this year for caring for the county's needy families.

"A direct allocation from the state in accordance with the subdivisions' relief needs appears the most logical method of meeting the situation," County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe said.

"All the matching that we have done in the past has been on paper and it meant no more than a lot of red tape, because Mansfield and Richland county had no money to put up for matching," the auditor asserted.

The matching requirement would seriously handicap every major subdivision in the county in providing relief this year, he pointed out, since most of them have borrowed against anticipated collections of state taxes and would

TAX RATES SET, COLLECTIONS FACING DELAY

Reappraisal to Set Start of Payment Period Back to February, Says Kolb.

CITY'S CHARGE REDUCED

Lexington Bill Highest in County, Sharon Township Has Lowest Figure.

County Treasurer John E. Kolb published the new real estate tax rates for county subdivisions today, but he predicted the property tax collection would not begin until late in February.

The collection period, which ordinarily would start before Jan. 20, will be delayed at least a month because of the property reappraisal last year and the extra work required to adjust valuations.

Expect Drop In Sales Tax.

Because of an anticipated reduction in the county's sales tax receipts this year, the general fund tax rate for the county was increased from 1.80 mills to 2 mills. The boost will produce about $18,000 more for county government, Deputy Auditor Arthur S. Beck said.

New rates in 20 of the county's 47 taxing districts are lower than last year, while increases are shown in 18 and nine are unchanged. Taxes will be collected on a property valuation of $90,000,000.

City's Rate Drops.

Mansfield's rate dropped .40 of a mill under last year to 15 mills, due principally to a reduction in bond retirements needs.

Despite a $550,000 school bond issue voted last September, Mansfield's school rate dropped off from 7.90 to 7.40 mills. The decrease is the result of a reduction in old bonds, it was said. The first payment on the new bonds will not be due until 1940.

Rates throughout the county districts range from a high of 22.40 in Lexington to 8.80 mills in Sharon township which last year had one of the lowest rates in Ohio. The township's rate was boosted from 5.80 mills last year to 8.80 mills to provide additional operating expenses.

The greatest reduction this year was 4 mills in the Bellville rate which dropped from 21.40 mills last year to 17.40. Expiration of an operating levy and a smaller bonded indebtedness accounted for the drop.

Seven of the eight cities and villages in the county reduced the operating rates this year, with only Shiloh retaining its 5.40 mills collected last year.

The Bellville levy decreased from 11.60 to 8 mills; Lucas from 6.20 to 6; Mansfield from 4.97 to 4.87; Plymouth from 3.35 to 2.95; Shelby from 5.55 to 5.25; Lexington from 8.40 to 8; and Butler from 8 mills to 7.80.

3-WAY ATTACK

Franco's Army, 32 Miles From Barcelona, Presses Ahead.

HENDAYE—(U.P.)—Spanish nationalist forces opened a new phase of the Catalonian offensive today with a three-point drive aimed at Igualada, Villafranca and Vendrell, key towns in their path toward Barcelona.

The nationalists asserted that they were but 32 miles from Barcelona at the nearest point.

A United Press dispatch from Barcelon quoted Gen. Juan Sarrabia, loyalist commander in chief on the Catalonian front, as saying after a tour of the front lines:

"We can await the results of this battle with confidence. Obviously the situation is difficult. At the same time the strain of three and a half weeks of fighting is leaving the invaders exhausted."

Jury Fixes Price In Lima Breach of Promise Suit.

LIMA — (U.P.) — Mrs. Genevieve Etter of Philadelphia today had a jury's award of $500 in her $100,000 breach of promise suit against Charles Samuel Armstrong, Lima draftsman. She charged they had lived together five years as husband and wife.

During hearing of the suit, counsel for both argued that they had broken the seventh and ninth commandments but the judge instructed the jury to pay no attention to such arguments

WOULD SELL EYE

Pennsylvania Domestic Says She'll Accept $25,000 Offer.

CHESTER, Pa.—(U.P.)—Mrs. Cary Brown, 52, a domestic, today offered to sell one of her eyes for $25,000 to gain "a few home comforts, as I am tired of working so hard."

"I have very good eyes and the highest blood test," she said. "I would give one of my eyes to some blind person if they would pay me a few thousand dollars. Selling an eye shouldn't be any different than trying to sell a second-hand bedroom suite."

Wierman Loses Engineer Post In Economy Wave

Facing Trial In Spy Case

Charged with espionage, two men and a woman prepare to go on trial in Los Angeles federal court Feb. 21. The three are Mikhail Nicholas Gorin, Pacific coast head of Intourist, Inc., official Soviet travel agency; his wife, Natasha, and Hafis Salich, former agent of the United States naval intelligence. All three entered pleas of not guilty at their arraignment after defense motions to quash the indictments on various statutory grounds were denied. Gorin and his wife are shown in court as they pleaded not guilty.

Resident Highway Official Told He's Through Jan. 25; "Next High Man" To Hold Job Temporarily Until State Department's Revamped.

(Picture on Page 4)

Boyd W. Wierman, Richland county resident state highway engineer, lost his job today, a victim of the Republican administration's economy wave.

Wierman, a Democrat, has held the resident engineer's post since the office was opened here in February, 1931. His dismissal, ordered by State Highway Director Robert S. Beightler, is effective Wednesday, Jan. 25.

The brief order said: "Your services as resident engineer are being terminated Jan. 25."

Beightler told The News-Journal today that the engineer's office would be retained here temporarily with "the next man under Wierman serving as temporary engineer until a new division is set up."

Wierman said the next highest man in his office probably would be Joseph D. Dune, timekeeper in the county for the past six years. Beightler said the temporary appointment would be made by the division engineer.

He added that Richland county probably would be included with two or three other counties in a new district to be headed by a man recommended by Murray D. Shaffer, engineer in the Ashland division, which now includes Richland county.

Beightler said a bill to reorganize the state highway set-up and calling for elimination of most of the county resident engineers will be introduced in the state legislature. The measure would increase the number of divisions and turn the local highway administration over to division engineers.

"County resident engineers have been figure heads in most sections of the state, and abolishing their positions will bring a marked economy without impairing the operation of the highway department," Beightler asserted.

Anticipating the dismissal, Wierman plans to open an office at 262 West Fourth street where he will do private engineering work.

"It was no surprise, and I was ready for it," he said.

Appointed to the resident engineer's post in January, 1931, Wierman took charge of the office here when it was opened a month later. He was named by former Director O. W. "Whitey" Merrell.

Wierman has been affiliated with the county and state highway departments for 21 years. He was Richland county surveyor from 1917 to 1921 and for the next four years was engineer for the Ohio River Scenic Highway association in eastern Ohio.

The county resident engineer's office here, which is under the supervision of the Division 3 office at Ashland, is in the Walpark building.

Clare McLaughlin of Loudonville was one of the 96 state liquor inspectors who had been dismissed today in reorganization of the liquor department, press dispatches from Columbus said.

Another was Allen A. George of Kent, well known in Richland county and Mansfield.

South's 'Slickest Crooks' Confess Cleveland Crimes

Brothers, Blamed for Series of Abductions, Holdups, Took Part In Air Races, Stayed to Enrich Selves.

CLEVELAND—(INS)—A review of Cleveland holdups and abductions in the last six months was started by police today in their effort to further trace the career of two brothers who came here from New Orleans and engaged in a series of robberies.

The brothers, Payton Wilson, 28, of New Orleans, and Quentin Wilson, 22, of Biloxi, Miss., came here to take part in the National Air Races late last summer and stayed on to enrich themselves at the expense of their holdup victims.

Police said the Wilsons had been guests several times at the home of an air race official, who was questioned. Detective George Smyth said the pair identified themselves falsely as "sons of the Wilsons who have a meat packing house in Chicago."

Sought In South.

In addition to their crimes in Cleveland and its suburbs, the men are wanted in New Orleans for a series of robberies that netted them over $7,000 and ended in the shooting of New Orleans Chief of Detectives John J. Grosch.

Grosch characterized the brothers as "the slickest pair of crooks that ever came out of the south."

Among the robberies police attributed to the brothers were the abduction of a Lakewood automobile salesman, who was forced to ride around in the trunk of his own car, and the robbery of two women while the brothers had the salesman's automobile.

The men also are charged with the hotel room holdup of Hugh B. Todd, Pittsburgh internal revenue agent. Todd's badge and $61 were

'STRIP TEASE' DANCER BALKS

Kansas City Girl Fears Operation Would Spoil Her 'Art.'

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—(U.P.)—As far as her appendix is concerned, doctors said today, Betty Fallon, 18, will continue to be the "perfect specimen of femininity" in her routine as a strip tease dancer.

Miss Fallon refused to permit an operation yesterday when she was taken to a hospital. She said a scar would "spoil her chances of getting ahead" in her career. Physicians told her she might be endangering her life. They planned to keep her under observation for a few days but believed an immediate operation was not necessary.

Gets Divorce With No Strings Attached.

MEDIA, Pa.—(AP)—Mrs. Margaret Holz, 23, testified in her divorce suit that, when her husband went to work, he stretched strings across the front and back porches. If on returning, he found a string broken, she said, he would accuse her of having men visitors. She got the divorce—with no strings attached.

HIT BY BOMB

Hotel Where Chamberlain's Son Stayed Damaged.

TRAILEE, Ireland—(AP)—A violent explosion today at the rear of a hotel at which Frank Chamberlain, son of the British prime minister, was staying shattered hundreds of windows and damaged the hotel walls.

Chamberlain, 25, who lives in Birmingham, Eng., was on a vacation in Ireland. He was uninjured.

Police worked on the theory that the outlawed Irish Republican army, which is blamed for a series of explosions in England Monday and Tuesday, also was responsible for this latest blast.

The explosion was believed in some quarters to have been an attempt to kill the British prime minister's son. It was disclosed that young Chamberlain had been guarded by three detectives since his arrival here Monday.

OFFICERS EXONERATED

RAVENNA—(AP)—A report by the Portage county grand jury today exonerated Sheriff Robert Fitzgerald and Prosecutor Theodore Tilden of alleged protection of slot machine operations.

RENEWS SEWER SURVEY DEMAND

State Says City Must Act on Setting Up Program Before It'll O. K. Extensions.

The state department of health today renewed its request to city officials that a comprehensive sewer survey be made in Mansfield.

F. H. Waring, chief engineer for the state health department, informed city officials that city council would have to give serious consideration to the matter of financing a "proper survey" before the sewerage needs of the city could be carried forward.

The state department of health in the past has repeatedly called upon the city to provide funds for a comprehensive survey of the sewer system and twice in the past year has turned down requests for approval of extensions in the system because council has been unable to provide survey funds.

Waring's letter was in answer to a communication sent by City Engineer W. C. Statler informing the state department that city council had set up $500 in the annual appropriations bill to begin the survey. Statler asked approval for the third time on the Barnard avenue sewer extension that has been rejected twice.

Waring pointed out that there was "no question" but that the extensions were badly needed in the Barnard avenue area and also in other sections of Mansfield.

He explained however, that city council had been informed on "several different occasions" that extensions for any area in the city could not be properly designed until the comprehensive plan of development had been affected

Statler said that he has had the survey, which has been estimated to cost $7,000, under way for several months, but has been unable to make much progress because of limited funds.

DENIES SHAKEUP

Nazi Press Chief Personally Gives Story to Correspondent.

BERLIN—(AP)—The press chief of the German government, Dr. Otto Dietrich, today took the unusual step of personally issuing to foreign correspondents a complete, emphatic and categorical denial that any cabinet changes were contemplated either now or at any time in the near future.

Rumors of impending changes had become so general that a denial was deemed necessary.

BLOCKS 'GRAB'

Sherwood Cancels Orders for 75,000 Tons of Coal.

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Charges that the Davey administration ordered 75,000 tons of coal for state institutions before leaving office were hurled today by State Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood.

Sherwood said he was immediately cancelling all orders "he could find out about." Many of the orders were placed by requisition and by telephone, the welfare director declared, and added:

"It was just a final grab for legal graft and is just another sample of what went on."

If the 75,000 tons of coal were divided up evenly among the state's 23 institutions, Sherwood estimated each institution would have approximately 100 cars of coal.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Felix Frankfurter, newly confirmed associate justice of the supreme court, said today he "will probably take the oath" of office Jan. 30, when the high tribunal reconvenes after a two weeks' recess.

The former Harvard law professor and Mrs. Frankfurter, who came to the capital by train from Boston, posed smilingly for news photographers.

Simpson was wounded fatally in a gun battle which followed discovery of an attempt to rob a New Miami cafe.

Senate Debates Today, Votes on Hopkins Confirmation Friday

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — The senate discusses today the qualifications of Harry L. Hopkins as secretary of commerce. The debate was expected to be long and bitter but the vote on whether to confirm his nomination to President Roosevelt's cabinet, was expected to be affirmative, with not more than 30 senators voting in opposition.

The vote may be delayed until tomorrow by the length and number of speeches planned for and against confirmation.

Opposition leaders, basing their position on Hopkins' methods as relief administrator, claimed, "at least 18" Republican and "five or six" conservative Democratic votes.

After a strictly partisan vote yesterday, 13 to 6, the senate commerce committee reported Hopkins' nomination favorably. Chairman Josiah W. Bailey, D., N. C., was excused from voting and participating in today's debate because he has had personal differences with Hopkins.

Sen. Walter F. George, D., Ga., who was opposed by President Roosevelt for re-nomination, may lead the Democratic attack on the former WPA chief. George has told friends that he felt "very bitter" over Hopkins' alleged participation in the administration's attempts to retire him.

Republican opposition probably will be led by Sens. Hiram W. Johnson, Calif., H. Styles Bridges, N. H., Arthur H. Vandenburg, Mich., and Wallace H. White, jr., Me.

After spirited bidding, during which Mrs. Cary ran her bid to seven clubs, Mrs. Thyberg won the contract, at seven hearts and made it as Mrs Cary sat and tossed off club after club futilely.

Book of the Week

"DANGER SIGNAL," by Phyllis Bottome; (Little, Brown: $2.50)

* * *

PHYLLIS BOTTOME is the most interesting British female novelist we ever talked with, and we have been cursed with quite a lot of conversation with that humorless, deadly artistic crew. Miss Bottome is the exception, a delightful conversationalist, a shrewd thinker, a straight-shooter—we almost wrote "a gentleman."

Her opinion of the recent Munich pact is something that could not be printed without expurgation, and yet it is singularly balanced. Her opinion of the conditions of modern living is similarly balanced. And the same is true of her understanding of man's mind. Which brings us to her new novel.

This is not a major novel by any means. Miss Bottome is a psychologist, a student of Dr. Alfred Adler. Indeed she dedicates "Danger Signal" to Alexandra Adler, M. D. In the book she proposes a problem which lies chiefly in the psychological realm and solves it according to the Adlerian-Bottome formula.

Miss Bottome begins with a public stenographer whose brows meet over her nose and whose face is usually sullen. She has fallen in love with a male flutterby, and now she has lost him to her ill sister. She is jealous and she is mortified and she is furious. She plans revenge while admitting at the same time she'd like to have him back.

At this moment a woman lecturer enters the stenographer's office. She dictates notes for a lecture, and two letters. The stenographer decides to go hear the talk; shortly the situation has changed dangerously, for then the lecturer is engaged in preventing a murder by (rest assured) wholly psychological means. As we said, the story has its points. The best point is the psychological rightness of the plot and the deductions. The worst is, for this reader, the fact that none of the characters seem very real. Least real of all was the psychologist herself, probably because Miss Bottome was so busy keeping her from being herself.—By J. S.

CHAPTER III.

In the black and silver car Kurt turned to Alix and brushed the snow from her hair.

'I don't know why I'm doing it," he said. "I like the snow in hair as bright as yours. Let's make it a long evening, Alix. I've got so much to find out about you. When Eddie told me about you, I said, 'Oh, no, no such girl exists.' But he was right. Here you are."

"You don't leave anything for me to say except—thank you very much, sir."

Soon the long-nosed car was speeding down Charles street. A smile playing about her month, she thought, "Let us go on like this, Kurt Deering, never stopping. I can't believe I'm Alix Barton who lost her job today and who has a runaway brother at sea. Yes, let's make the most of this wonderful unreality."

Kurt took her to a supper club where crystal chandeliers shed a soft light upon them and where the orchestra played music she felt had been written for her and for tonight.

She would remember and treasure everything, she knew. The gleaming chandeliers and the music. But most of all she would remember dancing with Kurt for the first time, feeling herself light in his arms, wishing the music would never end, and that there would be no separation from him ever.

"We're going to dance a lot," he said close to her hair.

Back at the table he lighted a cigaret and looked at her steadily through the smoke.

"Eddie was right Or have I said that before? You're all he said you were"

"And you're Eddie's hero."

"I couldn't be anybody's hero. Do you think he'll mind—this?"

"We're just friends," Alix said. "I'm not in love with Eddie."

"And now we're friends, you and I." And he thought, "It's funny that at this stage of my life I should meet a girl who is everything I wanted before—before Gina." Fall in love with the delicately lovely girl who sat opposite him? Would he ever fall in love again? Something had gone out of him when Gina had said, "I'm not in love with you any more, Kurt. I'm in love with somebody else."

A party of six came in, nodded to him, and wondered about the girl in wine-colored velvet. One of the girls, Lisa Bailey, said, "Kurt is trying blondes You can't blame him after what a brunet did to him." And because she knew Kurt rather well and liked him, she added, "It was Gina Rowland. And Kurt is the kind of man who lets only one woman into his heart. And no matter what she does to him, he still keeps her there."

* * *

When the club became crowded, they left and went to several other places. As they danced Alix felt that her dress that had been hanging in the closet since autumn had lived a lifetime tonight.

When at midnight they came out into the snow again, he said, "I'm going to take you to my favorite place now, Alix. It's a small restaurant owned and operated by Angela Dominico, who is a widow with six small sons. You'll never forget her waffles and strawberry jam. Angela has the face of a madonna but she must weigh at least two hundred and fifty pounds. But she's a lesson in courage."

Before long the black and silver car stopped before a corner restaurant in a poor neighborhood, dreary and deserted at midnight. When the bell clanged their entrance, Angela came out of the kitchen and greeted them,

"Two waffles and strawberry jam?" she asked, placing a clean tablecloth over an astonishingly dirty one and lighting a candle.

Kurt said, "That's right, Angela. And put a record on the phonograph, will you? When we've eaten, I want you to tell Miss Barton's fortune. But make it better than mine because what you told me didn't come true."

Soon the old phonograph was playing a familiar Italian love song and Angela was humming in the kitchen.

Kurt touched Alix's hands. "You're cold."

"Only my hands. I like it here."

She could see the dark deserted street and the snow through the broad window. How happy and safe she felt! This was love when nothing mattered except tonight and the little time there was left it. Tomorrow was years away. It was love when you stretched every sweet moment and strong feelings would not let you think clearly

When, later, their plates were cleared away, Angela drew up a chair and took Alix's hand.

Kurt said, smiling, "Don't forget. Make it good No tragedies for her."

* * *

Angela opened her black eyes wide. "Oh, but it is a good hand because there is only one man in her heart. One man and one love. And that's the way it should be"

And while she talked to Alix, he thought, "If only I'd met you two years ago, Alix, I'd like to be that one man in your heart. But I've nothing to give you. Gina took everything She didn't leave anything for me to give another girl."

When the little clock on the wall struck twice, Angela rose.

"Excuse me. I must see if my children are asleep"

Driving home, Kurt said, "I saw Don today. He said he was calling for you Saturday night"

He would be there! "I'm going to meet Nancy's mother on Saturday afternoon."

"You'll like Bernice."

"What happened between them, Kurt?"

"Other women. She tolerated his conduct for years and managed somehow to maintain her dignity. But he slipped from grace just once too often and Bernice divorced him Nancy spends her time running between the two of them and is miserably unhappy about the whole thing."

In the hall beneath the dim light, looking very slim and small beside him, she held out her hand and said, "I had a lovely time, Kurt," because that was all she could say, really. But she thought, feeling his fingers tighten around hers, "It was just a casual thing to you. Tonight, I mean. You probably take out a different girl every night. You may be terribly in love with some one now," and thought with an ache that love had wandered carelessly from his path when he had brought Kurt and her together.

And because a smile played about her mouth and a light was shining in her hair and her expression was tender and appealing, he bent his head and put his lips against hers.

"You're lovely, Alix, lovely," was all he said.

* * *

She never knew how long she stood there with his kiss still sweet and fresh on her mouth She remembered what she had said to Tuck: "It must be about the worst thing that can happen to you to be in love with a man who isn't in love with you." It was offering a gift that was rejected. It was looking toward heights you'd never reach.

Tuck had left a note on the table. She had written, "Don Lawrence called you again. I heard Kurt's voice. I'd like any man with a voice like that. I waited until midnight for you. Don't forget to drink your glass of milk Even people in love must eat. Don't get up in the morning."

When Alix got into bed, she clasped her hands behind her head and looked out the window Where was Tod, tall, blond, good-looking Tod? Where was his ship tonight and what would be his next port? She loved him so Tuck always said, "Your brother is your weakness, Alix."

The next day she called Nancy Lawrence. "I'm not working," Alix said.

Over the telephone Nancy's voice had the same clarity and sweetness.

"Oh, I'm sorry. But now we can spend the whole day with mother on Saturday. She'll love that and we'll get back in time that night for me to see if everything is ready for the party." She laughed. "I wonder if father will ever get tired of parties. I'll stop by for you on Saturday."

* * *

It had ben four years since, badly frightened and horribly lonely, she had sat in the waiting-rooms of employment agencies awaiting her turn to be interviewed. Today the stream of girls who came in looked much the same as they had looked then—shabby, but hopeful. And today when her turn finally came and she went in the small office, she heard the much repeated story that there was always a lull in business after the holidays; that she could register with them; that if anything came in, they would let her know.

Returning to the apartment, she found a letter in the mail slot that she had written to Tod weeks ago. Across it was marked, "Address Unknown." Alix went cold, then hot. Then—then he wasn't on the ship any more! Where was he? Stranded? In trouble with the police? Her imagination painted frightening pictures. Her helplessness reproached her.

Immediately she wrote a frantic letter to the ship owner's office in New York and went out and mailed it.

BRAZIL, MEXICO HELP HITLER'S BARTER PLANS

Chancellor's Economic Policy Receiving Support From America's Neighbors.

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Writer)

NEW YORK—Herr Adolf Hitler would seem to have been dipping his quick spoon into Uncle Sam's foreign trade porridge again.

Two of the greatest countries of the western hemisphere are involved—Mexico and Brazil. And that is something for America to ponder since the ever-hungry Nazi Oliver Twist has been getting a lot of his economic vitamins lately from good neighbors in the Monroe Doctrine area.

Specifically, a usually well-informed German news service says that an improved and extended system of bartering merchandise between Germany and Brazil is planned.

Also, the sudden return of Gen. Juan Azcarate to his post as Mexican minister to Berlin, after an absence of more than a year, is believed by many observers to be linked with an effort to expand trade relations between the two countries.

General Azcarate said there was no "special significance" in his return.

Mexico Trades Oil.

Mexico recently made a sensational barter transaction for disposing of some $17,000,000 worth of oil, taken mainly from expropriated wells of American and British companies. Most of it went to grease the wheels of Germany, and a lot of folk think this has encouraged Mexico to expand such oil sales to the Reich.

The Nazi barter system is one of the wonders of our time. The fatherland swaps its products for the products of other countries without any cash changing hands. In simplicity it's on a par with the trade whereby one schoolboy exchanges a jack-knife with a broken blade for a live beetle in a bottle.

I was chatting the other day in Paris with French Finance Minister Paul Renaud and he predicted that the Nazi barter scheme was headed for a nasty cropper; It wouldn't work indefinitely.

Other orthodox experts shudder at the barter idea. They say it won't work, but in the same breath they admit that it is working. And most of them have no answer to that, except that we must wait and see what happens.

Germany has resorted to the barter system because she hasn't sufficient ready cash to trade in any other way. Naturally she has to find countries which are of the same frame of mind—countries wanting German goods and having products that the Reich needs.

Latest victim of the new state administration's economy wave in Richland county is Boyd W. Wierman, resident state highway engineer since 1931, who was dismissed today by State Highway Director Robert S. Beightler. Wierman will leave office next Wednesday.

RETURNED HERE

Youth Arrested in Cleveland Proves Juvenile Problem.

County juvenile officers pondered today over what to do with a 17-year-old colored boy who was returned here by Cuyahoga county officers yesterday from Cleveland where he was arrested for burglary.

Judge C. J. Anderson said no charges had been filed against the youth in Cleveland or in Richland county, although the boy admits taking about $47 from a safe owned by his former employer at Cleveland.

In juvenile court here several times on theft charges, the youth once was sent to the Lancaster Boys' Industrial school. He formerly was on probation from the court, but the probation period expired recently.

Judge Anderson said he would attempt to contact Cleveland authorities today before disposing of the case. Meanwhile, the boy is held in the county jail.

2 YOUTH CO-OP GROUPS NAMED

Committees Appointed to Plan For Future Activities.

Two committees to plan for a future meeting were named at a dinner meeting of the Richland County Youth Co-op last night in the Johns park pavilion.

Those appointed are Virgil Downs, Harold Tolles and Robert Scott, door committee, and Donald Ryder and Robert Smith, recreation committee.

The meeting last night was preceded by an oyster and chili supper, and was in charge of Junior Humphrey, new president. Plans were made to stage a play, and Jan. 29 was set as the date for first tryouts. A discussion on the subject, "Youth Wants Romance," was led by Rev R. A. Hall, pastor of the Ontario Community church.

The next meeting will be held Feb. 6 at Union high school.

SPAIN TRIES TO RUN TROOPSHIPS PAST BLOCKADE

Government Seeks to Transfer 60,000 Men From Madrid to Catalonia Front.

(By Associated Press)

HENDAYE—The Spanish government sought to run troopships through the insurgent blockade in the Mediterranean today to reinforce the hard-pressed defenders of Barcelona as Britain and France—government Spain's main hopes for outside aid—remained apparently unswervable from their policies of "hands off."

A government force of 12,000 men, the first contingent of 60,000 fighters expected to be shifted from Madrid to Catalonia, was reported already at sea between Valencia and Barcelona. Insurgent warships were ordered to intercept them.

Advance Four Miles.

On the southern end of the Catalonia front insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco's commanders reported an advance of four miles under naval and aerial bombardment. This would place the insurgent vanguard on the coast within 40 miles of Barcelona.

On the center of the Franco line government militiamen were said suddenly to have turned and taken a stand to defend Igualada, said to be a key point in "mystery" fortifications defending Barcelona. Igualada is 28 miles west of the government capital.

In the far north—the hinge from which Franco's armies are swinging a great door shut on Barcelona—insurgents reported the capture of Pons, on the highway connecting Barcelona with the French frontier.

The government was on its own. Its foreign minister, Julio Alvarez del Vayo, had left Geneva without convincing British or French delegates to the League of Nations council that their interests demanded victory for government Spain. In Paris, the French government, bowing to British pressure, determined to keep its frontier with Spain closed to war supplies

SHELBY—The election of three directors for two-year terms to the Shelby Better Business club board will take place Friday. The ballots were distributed by George Hoffman, secretary of the board.

CITY RECEIVES TAX RECEIPTS

Gets $44,500 in Final Allocation of 1938 Collection.

City Auditor Paul L. Kelley announced today that the city had received its final allocation of $44,568 in the distribution of the last half of the 1938 personal and intangible tax receipts.

While the amount of the settlement was $63,568, the allocation from the county today totaled only $44,568, Kelley said as the city obtained an advance draft of $19,000 on the settlement early in December.

Of the amount, all of which is anticipated revenue, Kelley said $9,774 will go to the general fund, $20,485 for bond retirement, $2,906 to the firemen's pension fund and $2,401 which will be applied to the police relief fund.

'RING' SMASHED

U. S. Accuses Three of Smuggling Thousands of Aliens.

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—A ring believed to have smuggled "thousands" of aliens into this country from Canada was uncovered today by federal agents who arrested three men and continued a search for the alleged leader.

Authorities said the ring originally imported only Greeks and Chinese but recently had been bringing in refugees—some Jewish—from European countries.

NIGHT COUGHING CAN OFTEN BE PREVENTED

If your child often coughs at night because of even a slight cold—do this at bedtime: Thoroughly massage Vicks VapoRub on throat, chest, and back. VapoRub's poultice-vapor action tends to keep the air-passages clear, helping to maintain normal breathing through the nose, and so reducing mouth-breathing (the frequent cause of night coughs). Try it tonight—learn for yourself another reason why VapoRub is a family standby in more homes than all other medications of its kind put together.

$289,000 SPENT IN '38 ON CITY WPA PROJECTS

Federal Government Supplied $173,000 While Sponsors Paid in $116,000.

The city of Mansfield benefitted to the extent of more than a quarter of a million dollars by Works Progress Administration projects during 1938, figures compiled today by Glenn Weller, city-WPA engineer, disclosed.

Total expenditures on all WPA construction projects within the city was estimated at $289,446, Weller said.

Of the total amount, the federal government poured $173,396 into local trade channels through payrolls which financed all labor on the WPA construction work. In addition, the city and property owners which jointly sponsored a part of the jobs and the city alone in other cases, contributed another $116,050.

Lists Improvements.

Weller pointed out that the tremendous outlay of cash by the government in Mansfield during the year had accounted for numerous improvements which would have been curtailed because of the financial plight of the city.

He pointed particularly to the seven miles of new sidewalks and the six miles of new curb and gutters that were constructed throughout Mansfield last year.

"These improvements probably would not have been made on such a large scale had it not been for the co-operation of WPA," he said.

Weller's figures showed that the total expenditures for new sidewalks and curbs and gutters last year was $109,325. Of this amount the government provided $78,775, and the city and property owners shared in by contributing $30,550.

Woodland Project Largest.

Largest of the projects, Weller said, was the Woodland sewer improvement which provides work for 200 WPA laborers for a period of approximately four months.

The total outlay on the construction project was $123 500 Federal funds amounting to $58,500 went for labor on the construction of a new high capacity main on Cook road and Lexington avenue, while the city spent $75,000 for materials, including the construction of a 200,000-gallon elevated storage tank at the Woodland reservoir and installation of two booster pumps

The city's share was financed through the issuance of $64,000 in waterworks mortgage revenue bonds and an $11,000 appropriation from the waterworks surplus.

Besides these projects, Weller said another $46,626 was spent for the construction of sanitary sewers on eleven streets and various small paving jobs throughout the city.

Of the total expenditures for this work, the federal government provided funds totaling $36,126 and the city spent $10,500 for the materials.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 19, 1939.

Seed catalogs are again finding a place in popular spring fiction.

Vermont doesn't get any federal money for flood control—when a state goes Republican the government doesn't give a dam.

Indignant denial is made of the old saying, "There is honor among thieves." They contend they're no better than other people.

Law Enforcement By Selection.

DECREASE in the number of arrests in Mansfield in 1938, as compared with 1937, is a gratifying indication of less law violation in this city last year than the year before—or is it?

That is apparently what Mayor Hunter wishes to find out in his intended questioning of Police Chief Bates on this subject.

The fact that there were fewer arrests in 1938 than in 1937 is not, in itself, a reflection on the police chief or the men in his department. An ideal situation would be one in which there were NO arrests—because there were no violations of law.

There is quite general realization, however, that such a utopian condition has not been reached in Mansfield and it therefore becomes a matter of HOW MANY arrests should be made in a year's time in order to indicate activity—but not too great activity—on the part of the police department.

For, as former Governor Martin L. Davey indicated, in granting a last minute pardon to a political henchman just before leaving office, there are a number of so-called "dead letter" laws, under the guise of which certain known violators are either ignored or protected in operation of illegal businesses.

Law enforcement in any city becomes, therefore, a matter of selection as to which laws are to be enforced and which ignored—largely dependent on administration policy, based to considerable extent, on expressed public sentiment.

Tolerance of commercialized gambling in Mansfield, for instance, is much greater than in a number of other Ohio cities, because of apparent public indifference, or argument that a number of our "best citizens" demand it.

While there is undoubtedly a need for more patrolmen to better enforce traffic regulations on Mansfield streets, it has been convincingly demonstrated on a number of occasions that the present police force is of ample size to close bookie places and enforce other anti-gambling laws at any time it is decided by the administration to do so.

As long as law enforcement is a matter of selection by ANYONE among enforcement officials, public respect for laws cannot be expected to be overhigh.

And, after all, the mayor is the chief executive of the city of Mansfield.

End Flagrant Demagoguery.

A WELL KNOWN economist, in a forecast of 1939 business prospects, says that one highly encouraging element is apparent lessening of political "business baiting."

It is true that business as a whole has been accorded less abuse of late, due largely to the result of the November elections, in which a number of extremists and radicals of both parties were retired from office. But business' very real and justified fear of political persecution remains a dominant factor in current domestic affairs.

There is still a sizable school of politicians—most of whom never operated a productive business in their lives, and whose livelihood for years has been contributed by the taxpayers—whose principal delight is to attack those private industries which provide the nation's jobs, taxes and opportunities, and keep the country a going concern. The banks, the utilities, the large retail systems, outstanding manufacturers—these are but a few of the great industries, the cornerstone of our national economy, which have been the butt of vicious and unfounded attacks by vote-seekers.

Business isn't perfect. If business breaks the law, it should be punished. If there are abuses in business, legislation can be framed to correct and prevent them. But to seize upon the occasional industry or businessman, who is justly subject to criticism, and claim that this is representative of all business, is the most flagrant kind of demagoguery. It is the kind of demagoguery which drives money into hiding, creates unemployment and lack of confidence, and prolongs depression. It is becoming evident that the public is getting tired of this kind of cheap "statesmanship."

It remains to be seen what attitude the current congress will take toward business. If it is a fair and co-operative attitude, the country will go forward.

Why Russia Is Stalled.

THE failure of Russian industry, now obvious to the world, is explained in a story told by Edmund J. Lowry, an American engineer who spent several years in Russia.

One of his adventures was with a plant established in Siberia to make dredges for gold-mining, after an American model. When this engineer first saw the plant, it had been operating for two years with several thousand workers and hadn't produced one dredge.

Mr. Lowry found that the Russian draftsmen had failed to make accurate drawings of the American model, that various things were lacking, and nobody on the job had any idea of what was needed or how the thing worked. There wasn't a gauge in the whole place for accurate measurement of parts. Many of the workmen had never seen a machine of any kind before they went on that job.

Nevertheless the fellows in charge were going right ahead with a big expansion program, to hire several times as many workers. Although they couldn't operate the machinery they had, they insisted that they would get along all right if they had a lot more.

Gears had been stripped, fuel was lacking, fine machinery was rusting in the fields or lacking essential parts that workmen had taken home for souvenirs.

The Russians seem to have no industrial aptitude. That is one of the reasons why their system is now stalled.

According to Jacoby, the bridge expert, "No one can play better than 75 per cent perfect bridge"—so your partner may not be doing so badly after all.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—This is a democratic city, of course, but—In New York City, John D. Rockefeller was walking by a new building going up at Rockefeller Center and like any good steam-shovel watcher, stopped to watch the work. A foreman hustled him along, whereupon Rockefeller created the "Sidewalk Superintendents' Club" and provided it a sheltered walk where all could stop for a few moments in comfort and watch the digging. Several times daily a report is displayed showing the amount of dirt removed, and giving heaps of other information necessary to proper functioning of "sidewalk superintendents."

Now in Washington the government is building a huge memorial to Thomas Jefferson, greatest apostle of democracy. And scorch our soul if they haven't built a high board fence around the works. If this paradoxical situation indicates anything sinister, we don't know what it is.

* * *

Outlaw Burial Service.

TO KEEP you further posted on what goes on in this city we must report that two lads, aged about eight, have opened a free burial service for animals in Rock Creek park in good smelling distance of fashionable Shoreham and Wardman Park hotels, not to mention how close it is to apartment houses where you can't let your dog out without having him sniff at a senator.

The boys have been going for several days now and have a dozen or more graves, each carefully marked. They bury dogs, canaries, cats, pet mice, or anything else except fish. They are very practical about fish and not the slightest bit sentimental, as they seem to be about other house pets.

"Just throw fish outside," they advise, "and they disappear."

They call for dead pets in a little wagon but business even with such inducements is not especially brisk and now they display a sign near the graveyard advertising the service and giving their home telephone number. There is no charge whatever. There very definitely is a law against burying animals in Rock Creek park, which is the city's pride and joy, but the law hasn't caught up yet with the two lads.

* * *

Home State Interest.

THEN there was the plight of three senators, Minton of Indiana, Schwellenbach of Washington, and Truman of Missouri, all Democrats, who were invited over to Vice President Garner's office.

Arriving, they found the door locked, so knocked. No answer. Again and again they knocked, politely of course. Still no answer. Even western senators are not cantankerous enough to pound on the vice president's door. They were no end perplexed and on the point of leaving when Schwellenbach went to a wall telephone nearby and called Garner's number. Soon a door was opened. Garner and his staff were huddled about a radio in an inner room listening to a Texas sports broadcast.

* * *

At the time of the appointment to the supreme court of Justice Black, former Alabama senator, and Justice Reed, former solicitor general, there was a wealth of comment about the relative qualifications of the two for the bench. Black had much the worst of it.

Reporters regularly covering the court now say that Justice Black's opinions are clear and understandable for quick, concise reporting, while Reed's are a miracle of obscurity, at least from a layman's standpoint. Some suggest Reed may be handling more difficult cases, or at least they seem more difficult.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Sunday, Jan. 19, 1919

After discharge from medical corps Dr. Ray W. Kissane went to Roanoke, Va., as surgeon for Norfolk & Western railroad.

Week ended as one of mildest winter weather ever experienced in Mansfield.

Pauline Frederick in La Tosca was screen attraction at Opera House.

Gipsy Simon Smith, English evangelist, opened series of meetings at First Methodist church.

It was reported to police that Bushnell school building had been broken into and principal's desk ransacked.

Memorial service was held at First Presbyterian church for the late Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman, nationally prominent churchman.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Friday, Jan. 19, 1934.

Betty May Thompson won highest scholastic honors among January graduating class; Miss Martha Hering, second; and Robert H. Coe, third.

Mrs. Emma L. Loving and Charles E. Remy were married by Dr. Paul Saleste at St. John's church.

Miss Margaret Hoffman, 15, suffered cuts and bruises when struck by an auto.

First week of real estate tax collections brought in $100,000, an increase of $10,000 over the same period of 1933.

R. J. Arras, grocer, 166 McPherson street, was held up and his store robbed of $12.

Legalized sale of liquor opened in Mansfield. Only the Leland tap room had a license.

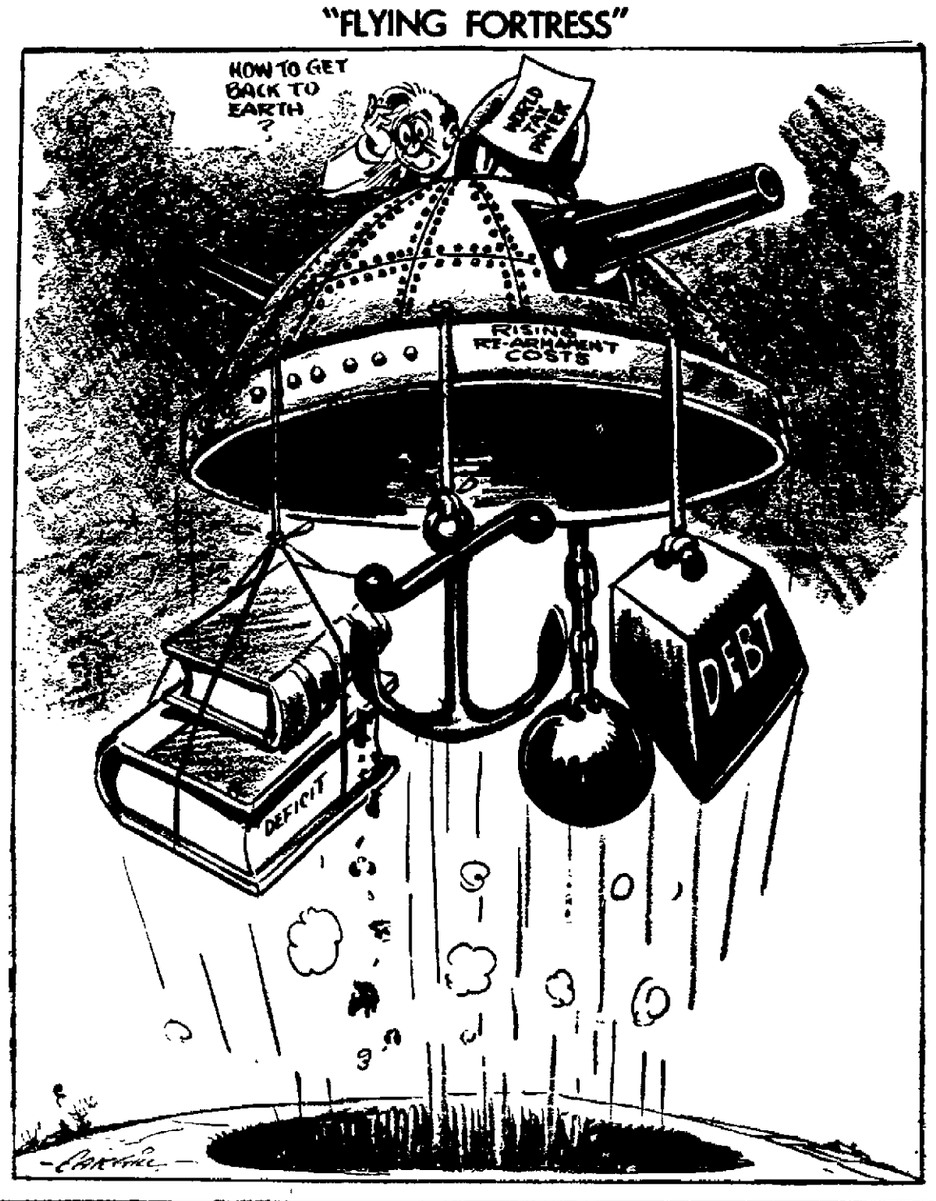
"FLYING FORTRESS"



Norris Urges Unicameral Congress

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Having abolished lame duck congresses, Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska is agitating now for unicameral congresses. Due mainly to his influence his home state already has a unicameral legislature—that is, a legislature which is not split into a senate and house of representatives, but operates with only one chamber. Reports from the Cornhusker commonwealth are to the effect that the new system is quite satisfactory. Senator Norris advocated it on grounds of efficiency and economy. There was no sense in two houses, he argued; one is just as democratic and works faster.

George Norris

Whether or not the same thing would do equally well on a national scale is problematic, but the Nebraska senator thinks it would.

Of course it couldn't be adopted, if at all, without a constitutional amendment. However, a constitutional amendment also had to precede abolition of lame duck congresses, and the Nebraskan was potent enough to jam that through.

To be sure, getting the constitution amended takes time. The senator started a long while ago on his anti-lame duck crusade. He fought for it for years. His present fight will have to be pushed more briskly. His current term will expire at the end of 1942 and he says he will not run again. Even if he changes his mind, he will be past 80 then. He must hustle or his campaign will outlive him.

Lame Ducks Were Shot Sitting.

Another thing:

The lame ducks were shot sitting, so to speak. Nobody ever did love a lame duck. He neither could defend himself nor get out of the way.

Lame duck-ism was like this:

Election day was (and is yet) early in November. In the lame duck era, an incumbent lawmaker could be defeated on that date, but his term continued (and does yet) until the year's end. So he still was (and is yet, if he gets a chance to assert himself) a voting member of congress until the succeeding Jan. 1. And congress, until Senator Norris got the constitution amended, met in early December. Therefore this beaten bird continued to have a legislative voice for about a month after his repudiation by his constituents—a period during which he might do a lot of dirty work.

Not unreasonably, Senator Norris considered this unfair.

Accordingly his amendment cut out the congressional session between election day and Jan. 1, thus eliminating the effectiveness of the lame ducks—the guys who had been beaten but whose terms had not quite ended.

There can, indeed, yet be a lame duck session of congress. If the president calls an extra session between election day and Jan. 1, the lame ducks remain in action while the expiring year lasts. But extra sessions are exceptional.

The point is that Senator Norris had comparatively little opposition in his warfare against lame ducks. A lame duck is a politician who already has been licked, and who cares a hoot for a chap who has just been licked?

Won't Eliminate Selves.

Compacting a congress of 96 senators and 435 representatives into a single body is altogether a different proposition.

Ninety-six and 435 total up to a total of 531 seats on Capitol Hill. Senator Norris' proposed one house would be, say, 265 strong, with the vice president casting the deciding vote on ties.

Are 531 senators and representatives going to indorse a constitutional amendment trimming their number of seats down by 266 altogether? Not if I know anything about politicians. The home voters might acquiesce, but a constitutional amendment calls for a congressional majority first.

The Original Notion.

The original idea was that we needed two congressional chambers, in order to have a liberal house of representatives and a conservative senate, cross-checking one another.

Now that both senators and representatives are chosen alike by popular vote that purpose is lost. The senators are no less popularly representative than the representatives, except that their terms are longer. If anything, in actual practice, the senate is more progressive than the so-called lower house.

Senator Norris' scheme is logical all right.

But if he can get away with it he's a wonder.

You and Your Nation's Affairs

Never Too Many Producers.

By WALTER E. SPAHR
Professor of Economics, New York University.

All people are consumers, but not all are producers. Of our 130 million consumers, perhaps 50 million are producers—the exact figure is not known. But if we may assume, for a basis for our argument, that this crude estimate of the number of producers is reasonably accurate, then certain important facts and principles should stand out clearly.

The welfare of all people depends upon what these producers accomplish. The more the producers produce, the more there is to consume, and the higher the plane of living. That ought to be clear, but too many people still doubt the accuracy of that statement.

The doubters have developed a peculiar state of mind about this matter, and have, as a consequence, advocated or supported social programs that fly in the face of this simple principle as to how the plane of living for the great mass of people is raised.

For example, there are all those programs, which involve a restriction of supply. There are programs to increase the costs of production, which means that less will be produced. There are programs to take people out of production so that there will be more consumers and fewer producers—for instance, the Townsend plan to remove older people from production so that there will be a place for more young people; or those programs to remove married women from productive activity to make room for others.

There are still other programs, such as the various spending, currency inflation, and "increased consumer purchasing power" programs which rest upon the assumption that relatively more consumption and relatively less production provide the clue to business recovery and prosperity.

There are some simple aspects of these questions that we should not overlook. Having more consumers and fewer producers does not raise the plane of living. Just the reverse is true; the more producers there are, the greater the possibilities of a highr level of living. Then we should not forget the fact that it is not a question of one producer keeping another producer out of a job; instead we should realize that producers create a demand for the services of others.

Many a man, by working overtime, has created a demand for the services of hundreds or thousands of his fellowmen. If every human being could produce enough for himself and a surplus besides, we would all be cared for. Every person who can meet his needs and create a demand for the services of other people is working in this direction. Every person taken out of production eats into the wealth of society while reducing the amount produced.

Therefore, every married woman who wishes to work and can find a job should be permitted and encouraged to work. Every person who will work overtime should be permitted to do so—assuming that his health is not impaired. Every increase in productive activity is good provided it is profitable—and the buying and selling by people in a free market will determine whether it is profitable.

Finally, let it not be forgotten that all consumer purchasing power is dependent in the long run upon the amount we produce. This fact is as certain as the force of gravity. The machinery of production and consumption may become stalled or get out of adjustment for many reasons, but these reasons should be investigated and separated from the many current notions, now sweeping this country, to the effect that we need more consumers and that there are not too many producers.

There cannot be too many producers! When anyone finds himself making any such assumptions, he should stop, and see just where he got off the track.

"I Will Not Let Thee Go, Except Thou Bless Me!"

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

TROUBLE . . . every kind of Trouble, heaven-sent or home-made . . . there's one problem which we all face, every day of our lives. How shall we handle it? In stubborn despair, we try one solution after another.

Sometimes we run away. Sometimes we try to cover it up by lying, evading, blaming the other fellow. Or—weaker still—we make a racket of our Grief. Publicly flaunt it to obtain attention or avoid responsibility. Yet always the "cure" seems as bad if not worse than the original cause . . . leaves us more bitter, more shamed.

But there's another method, utterly different than these. Some spunky spirits neither turn their back on Trouble nor frame it with Neon lights. Instead, they meet it head-on, chin up . . . refusing to call it Trouble, at all . . . welcoming it as a great Opportunity and Adventure . . . determined to see it through to some triumphant end!

There's an old story of a man who met Trouble in this way—many a year agone—at the ford Jabbok—on a dark night. Yet dark as was the night, it could not equal the shadow that gripped Jacob's heart. For though he had by now become one of the wealthiest and most powerful lords in Israel, things had not always been so pleasant or secure for Jacob. And there were memories, many memories, gnawing at him, by night and day . . . until life held, at last, but one desire . . . TO BE FREED OF THIS FESTERING FEAR . . . TO BE AT PEACE WITH ALL THOSE HE HAD WRONGED OR WHO HAD WRONGED HIM . . . ESPECIALLY WITH ESAU, TOWARD WHOM HIS HEART YEARNED MIGHTILY.

So Jacob gathered together a great peace offering of flocks and herds, slaves and treasure, and travelled many days until he came, finally, at dusk, to the ford Jabbok where, on the morrow, the meeting was to be. And there, after all had fed . . . and the tent lights were lit . . . and the cattle and the people muttered and babbled together . . . Jacob went out into the night and walked alone, for his Trouble was upon him and he could not sleep.

* * *

AND the taunting questions went on and on within him . . . such questions as claw at us all, when our Memories walk in the night. And presently—as though his Trouble had taken actual form—a Presence detached itself from the darkness and stood before him . . . and advanced upon him.

And Jacob knew, without words, that this life had come to an issue at last . . . and that this dark and silent struggle was to be his test. He could run away—as so often he had run from the Truth. Or he could stay and meet what came. But whichever he did, would mark him forevermore.

And Jacob stayed. And the hours passed . . . and the wrestling still went on. And there was a great weariness upon Jacob . . . and a hollow in his thigh where the battle had gone against him. But still he fought . . . Then the sky lightened. And the Presence cried, "Let me go, for the day breaketh!" But Jacob, gathering his last strength, answered only, "I WILL NOT LET THEE GO, EXCEPT THOU BLESS ME!"

So Jacob was blessed . . . and came out of the darkness with a proud, new heart. But always he carried with him that limp of Victory!

"I WILL NOT LET THEE GO, EXCEPT THOU BLESS ME!"

There is the only answer a man may make to Trouble with any self-respect . . . or hope of profit.

Do not run from Trouble or try to cover it up. Do not be ashamed of Trouble or twist it into a racket. Above all—do not waste Trouble! See it and use it for what it is . . . a challenge and an opportunity. Never mind the tears, the jeers or the fears. Trouble is still one of Life's greatest chances . . . Trouble still offers Life's richest rewards.

SEIZE THAT CHANCE! BATTLE FOR THAT REWARD! CARRY ON THROUGH THE DARKNESS AND THE DESPAIR . . . WITH THE MORNING YOU SHALL HAVE NEW PEACE AND PRIDE — even though you do limp a little!

A Farmer's Diary

Br'er Rabbit's Winter Home.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

THE rabbit's tracks were only slightly filled with drifting snow, and I knew he could not be far away. The wind whistled around my ears, and the sleety pellets stung my stiffened cheeks, but I turned my back to the driving storm, and looked for the sly rodent's hideout. Halfway down a little slope, I saw a protruding rock, avoided in the plowing, with tufts of snowy, withered grass about it. I circled it, at some distance. There, backed by the rock and heavy thatch of grass, his door opened toward the south, I saw the bunny, humped and motionless as if in a painted picture.

Cautiously, I stepped closer. Suddenly the long ears moved forward and I saw the nostrils twitch. Then he bounded from his shelter. I watched his eastern, zigzag course across the snow, until he disappeared into the woodland thicket.

I felt I had met him at an evil hour, and had ruthlessly disturbed his morning nap. Then I drew closer to his humble, grassy home, to see what his standard of living had been. I noticed where the well-adapted forepaws had dug away the crusts of snow, and he had nibbled at the green, lush grass that looked withered on top. I stopped and touched the moist unfrozen earth and the white, tender, juicy roots that he had left, and felt the goodness of it all.

Then I poked my face as close to the little opening as I could, to get the rabbit's view of the roof above him. The drab, matted grass, bent like steel bands above, held the heavy weight of snow securely. It was the first wild rabbit's hutch I had looked into so closely in the winter time.

His food is by his open door, his shelter built by the winter snow and wind. He will not starve or freeze if unmolested by his enemies.

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK—Bottom of the barrel: "Abe Lincoln in Illinois" is easily the dramatic hit of the year. It may be a coincidence, but the Plymouth theater, where "Abe" is presented, is flanked by the Booth theater on one side, and by the Lincoln hotel on the other.

Lanny Ross will probably write "Attorney" after his name when he's tired of radio and open an office. He is a graduate of the college of law at Columbia university.

Aaron J. Levy is a Jewish judge on the New York state supreme bench, and Father Donnelly's church is a Catholic church in Corpus Christi, Texas. But one of the pews in that church bears Judge Levy's name. The congregation insisted on saying "thank you" this way when the judge organized a drive to assist the church over financial hurdles some time ago.

MARTHA SCOTT, the little bride of last season's Pulitzer prize winner, "Our Town," created something of a sensation when she returned from Hollywood with no criticism of the place. "I was there for weeks and observed none of the dizzy stuff that is supposed to be routine out there. Everyone was generous and kind, but I don't think my screen tests will amount to much. They tell me my mouth is too small for my face."

Guests who are made happy by sloe-gin fizzes served by Charles Laughton might be pleased to know that the actor makes his own sloe-gin. "Yes," admits Mrs. Laughton, "Charles waits till the first frost before gathering the sloes. Then he mixes them, with other ingredients, into the gin, and 'lays it down.' It takes several months to make sloe-gin properly. Charles laid down 15 quarts just before I left."

EMIL COLMAN, who has been doing some research on early Manhattan lore (an odd pastime for an orchestra leader, by the way), announces that a creek used to run across Manhattan in the vicinity of Greenwich Village. But he doesn't know what became of it. Okay, Emil. It's underground, but it bobs up briefly through a fountain in the lobby of the El Chico restaurant. Can't drink it, though. Too much sand in the water. The Indians called it Minetta Spring.

And now we come to the first jitterbug ever on record in New York. In 1824 there seems to have been a Mr. J. Loeser, a very nervous person, who decided that the Island of Manhattan was becoming top-heavy. So he decided to saw it in half, tow the top half down the river and hitch it on to the Battery. He actually spent thousands of dollars on labor and equipment before kind hearted friends convinced him the scheme was "impractical."

Carl Carmer ("Stars Fell on Alabama") is, by confession, a notorious procrastinator. But now he is lashing himself to unaccustomed labors in completing his new book, "The Hudson River." Reason: he's been invited on a trip to South America and his publishers refuse him permission to leave until the manuscript is in their hands.

Russia Seeks to Halt 'Peasant Revolt', London Hears

SEE UPRISING THREATENING STALIN RULE

Foreign Observers Informed of New Purges as Soviet Battles 'Rebellion.'

(By International News Service)

LONDON — Behind the high walls of Bolshevist censorship and but little known to the world at large, an upheaval of regimented labor is taking place in Soviet Russia today.

Its full extent and its gravity as a real or potential threat to the rule of Josef Stalin are matters for keen conjecture.

Reports reaching London and Berlin talk of a "rebellion of peasants and workers." Dispatches seeping across the borders hint darkly of new "purges," tell of the desperate measures being taken by the Soviet secret police to put down what would appear to be virtual insurrection.

What may be stated as an undisputed fact is this:

The workers of the U. S. S. R., not unnaturally, have accepted with little grace Stalin's new "work discipline decrees" which involve wage cuts of as much as 15 per cent and demands for increases in production approximating 25 per cent.

Stream of Rumors.

From Riga, Warsaw, Berlin and other cities have come within the past week or more a constant stream of rumors and reports painting a dismal picture of working conditions in Stalin's Russia.

The following, received in Paris today from Moscow by a circuitous route, is a typical example:

"The Moscow courts yesterday sentenced five offending workers to terms of imprisonment ranging from three to five years. They were convicted of assaulting the directors of their factory, who had discharged them for failing to fill the requirements of the new decrees.

"Orders have been issued for the immediate execution of all workers participating in terrorist activities. The OGPU (secret police) henceforth will rigorously supervise the applications of all workers eligible under the new decree laws."

The dispatch declared that the execution order had come from the new "mystery man" of Soviet Russia, the recently-appointed all-powerful commissar for internal affairs, whose cabinet post automatically gives him command of the dreaded OGPU.

He is Lorenti Birea, who only a few weeks ago was lifted from an obscure post in the Transcaucasus to a seat along with the mighty in the Kremlin, and who during his short term of office already has earned himself an unparalleled reputation as administrator and disciplinarian.

Inmate Who Fled O. S. R. With Rope Ladder Returned

Joseph Gartin, 19, of Columbus, today was back in the Ohio State reformatory from which he and a companion escaped last Armistice day with the aid of a rope ladder.

Gartin was returnd to the institution last night from Mt. Vernon where he had been held on auto theft charges.

Supt. Arthur L. Glattke said he knew none of the details of Gartin's release by Knox county authorities.

Gartin had been held in jail in Mt. Vernon on auto theft charges with James Fulton, 23, also of Columbus, with whom he escaped.

Both were captured in Columbus the following day when they wrecked a car stolen in Mt. Vernon on a Columbus street after an 80-mile-an-hour ride in which they failed to out-distance pursuing state highway patrolmen.

Of all the countries he visited, Wolf said he liked Hawaii best. In all, the trip covered some 40,000 miles.

IT IS SAID constipation causes many human discomforts—headaches, lack of energy and mental dullness being but a few. BUT DON'T WORRY—

Olive Tablets, being purely vegetable, are harmless. They not only gently yet thoroughly cleanse the bowels but ALSO assist liver bile flow to help digest fatty foods. Test their goodness TONIGHT without fail! 15¢, 30¢, 60¢.

have to use their state money to retire their notes.

Wolfe said Mansfield, Madison township and Shelby have borrowed about $75,000 to pay old relief bills and that their debt needs this year will consume the funds they would use for matching.

Representatives from rural counties, however, have opposed the distribution of relief funds on the basis of needs, asserting that the large cities would get most of the state money and the smaller counties might not receive any.

A promise of "every possible aid" in obtaining funds to help Mansfield meet its $100,000 relief burden this year had been made today by Ralph C. Lutz, Richland county representative. In a letter to William Beer, jr., clerk of council, Lutz pledged his support of an adequate relief measure.

City officials have estimated they have enough relief funds to last until the middle of February.

In response to a questionnaire from State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson, the county auditor and commissioners today planned to urge retention of the pre-audit method of paying relief bills.

Ferguson asked officials their opinion of the plan which was established several weeks ago to require monthly inspection of county relief bills before money is allocated by the state to pay them.

Gov. Bricker today labeled the wholesale dismissal of WPA workers, especially widowed mothers, as "vicious and unconscionable."

READY FOR RUSH

Warden Expects Big Sale of Dog Tags Before Deadline.

Faced with the prospect of selling 2,000 dog tags in the next two days, Dog Warden William Miller and clerks in the county auditor's office prepared today for the last-minute rush to get under the deadline Saturday.

Sales of tags reached the 3,000 mark today, but more than 5,000 dogs in the county wore tags last year, and Miller doesn't think the population has dropped any.

Tags may be purchased at the courthouse until 4 p. m. Saturday, which is a one-day extension, Auditor Norman L. Wolfe said.

A $1 penalty will be added after Saturday for every tag purchased, and owners are subject to a fine if they permit their dogs to run loose without licenses.

A stand where tags may be purchased has been set up in the second floor lobby of the courthouse, with Warden Miller and Harry Koch, deputy auditor, in charge.

GETS 5 DAYS IN CONTEMPT CASE

Clevelander Sentenced Here For Failing To Support Family.

Ricker had failed to comply with a previous court order to pay a part of his earnings to his family, Probation Officer Harry Crouse said.

The case of Kenneth Gallentine, 30, also of Cleveland, who was returned here to face the same charge, was continued by Judge Huston until Gallentine's wife can be brought here from Shelby to testify. Both men are in the county jail.

EX-CONVICTS AND PAL CAPTURED HERE, FACE CHARGES IN AKRON

Two ex-convicts and a companion, captured at gun-point Tuesday night after a 70-mile-an-hour chase by State Highway Patrolmen R. I. Governor and W. H. Harrison on U. S. route 42 north of Mansfield while fleeing from a twin hold-up, faced charges of armed robbery and kidnaping in Akron today.

The trio, turned over to a squad of Akron detectives after spending the night in jail here were Mack Guy, 34, Clifford James, 29, and Lawrence McGinnis, 28, all of Akron.

They were captured by the officers in a three-mile chase over the icy highway after the patrolmen had spotted the stolen car they were driving on route 42, northeast of Mansfield.

Guy served a five-year sentence in Nebraska state penitentiary for robbery and is awaiting trial in Akron on robbery and rape charges.

James was recently released from Atlanta federal penitentiary, Akron officers said.

When captured, officers said, the men were fleeing from a grocery store hold-up in which they had lined seven persons up against the wall and looted the cash register of between $200 and $300.

The hold-up served as a climax to the kidnaping only a short time before of a Chicago salesman whom they had held up on a busy Akron thoroughfare when he stopped for a traffic light.

According to reports from Akron, two of the men got into his car from opposite sides when he stopped for the light. They drove him several miles from the city, robbed him of $42 and then locked him in the turtleback of the coupe.

During the hold-up of the store, they fired a shot at the grocery keeper after getting into the machine which they later abandoned on the other side of the city. The salesman was released from the car when a passerby was attracted by his pounding and shouting.

Th third man had stolen the car they were driving when arrested and then met the other two, the officers said.

To Get the Best Cough Remedy, Mix It at Home

Real Relief. Big Saving So Easy. No Cooking.

This famous recipe is used by millions of housewives, because it makes such a dependable, effective remedy for coughs that start from colds. It's so easy to mix—a child could do it.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, a compound containing Norway Pine and palatable guaiacol, in concentrated form, well-known for its effect on throat and bronchial membranes.

Then make a syrup by stirring two cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. It's no trouble at all, and takes but a moment. No cooking needed.

Put the Pinex into a pint bottle and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of very effective and quick-acting cough remedy, and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and is very pleasant—children love it.

You'll be amazed by the way it takes hold of coughs, giving you delightful relief. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Money refunded if not pleased in every way.

THEATERS

THIS AND THAT: The week AFTER the million dollar movie quiz closed, Warner theaters did their biggest business in the history of the company. . . . The popularity of the family series not only has made Mickey Rooney a top star, but it has made it possible for many players to buy their own homes, among them Florence Roberts, Jed Prouty and Spring Byington. . . . Hollywood turned out en masse for the preview of "Jesse James" which, critics say, is good entertainment if not historically correct. . . . Looks as if 1939 will see a lot of action pictures, what with "Stand Up and Fight," "Jesse James," "Gunga Din," "Dodge City," "Union Pacific" and "Stage Coach."

* * *

Birthday Party.

The Ohio theater is "11 going on 12" today and by way of celebrating the anniversary the management presents a highly recommended stage revue, with the usual movie bill. "Broadway After Dark"—don't ask why the title—combines comedy, music and dancing and novelty acts. Two of them come from big time circuses—the Roman Gladiators, a famous trio of jugglers, and the Six DeCardos, well-known acrobatic group. Ted and Art Miller have a comedy act and Miller also serves as master of ceremonies. Then there are Haig and Haig, rhythmers, Radcliff and Johnson, novelty dancers, the Chicago Rockets and a swing band. "Mr. Moto" sleuths the screen.

* * *

New Charlie Chan.

And speaking of sleuths, that Chinese philosopher - detective, Charlie Chan, runs up against a new murder mystery in Honolulu at the Madison theater the last half of the week. Sidney Toler who carries on where the late Warner Oland left off, finds the solution, you may be sure. Phyllis Brooks heads the supporting cast. Romance involves Franchot Tone—lately returned to Broadway—with Franciska Gaal in "The Girl Downstairs." Rita Johnson, attractive newcomer, Walter Connolly and others are in this comedy romance of a scullery maid who wins a Social Registerite.

Popular Film Returns.

Returning to Mansfield for a two-day showing at the Majestic is the popular M-G-M feature, "Thoroughbreds Don't Cry," which has two of the most popular youngsters, Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland, among its featured players. Others are Sophie Tucker, C. Aubrey Smith and Ronald Sinclair. It's a race track story, the action shifting from England to America. George Houston as Wild Bill Hickok in "Frontier Scout" will also be shown Friday and Saturday.

* * *

Arsene Lupin Again.

The dashing master crook of fiction, Arsene Lupin, returns to the screen in a film of that title, "Arsene Lupin Returns," but leaves the spectator to wonder until the final fade-out just which one of the players is the crook. Melvin Douglas, Virginia Bruce and Warren William are featured in this mystery play which the Ritz offers the last two days of the week. A Gene Autry picture, "Gold Mine in the Sky," is also scheduled.

* * *

"Evergreen" at Park.

A re-issue of "Evergreen," the English-made film starring the lovely Jessie Matthews, comes to the Park today for a three-day showing. The story revolves around a great stage star who is forced into oblivion and whose daughter impersonates her years later, attempting to make the public believe they are the same person. Jack Holt in "Crime Takes a Holiday" gives one of his he-man performances as a district attorney who cleans up on gangdom.

SEEKS BIDS ON CITY SUPPLIES

Board of Control to Buy 400 Garbage Cans, Coal and Sand for Sewage Plant.

The city board of control today called for bids on various supplies, including 400 new garbage cans, to be used in the operation of the garbage and sewers departments during 1939.

Service-Safety Director Earl A. Nist said that sealed bids on the materials would be received at his office in the city building until noon on Friday, Feb. 3.

Specifications, he said call for the delivery of three cars of egg coal, 530 cubic yards of sand, 400 10 gallon capacity garbage cans and 200 garbage can covers.

He added that bidders were required to furnish prices on the sand and coal for delivery at the sewage treatment plant track siding.

Each proposal submitted must be accompanied by a certified check for $25 on an Ohio bank as surety that a contract will be entered into if the bid should be accepted.

DAMAGE CLAIM SETTLEMENT OK'D

Girls Win $50 Each From Estate of Traffic Crash Victim.

Settlement of two $50 claims for injuries suffered by Miss Mary Miller and Miss Helen Gasper, 17-year-old Mansfield girls, in a fatal traffic accident Dec. 30 at West Fourth street and Penn avenue, had been approved today in probate court.

The settlement was made with the estate of John L. Thorne, who was killed when his car collided with an automobile in which the two girls were riding with Miss Helen Sturgeon. Four other young women were injured slightly in the crash.

In Stage Show at Ohio

Ted and Art Miller, self-admitted "nitwits of vaudeville," are featured comedians with "Broadway After Dark," the stage show which the Ohio theater presents today and tomorrow, as a part of its 11th birthday celebration. The Millers have been heard over a number of broadcasting stations and bring a novel assortment of talents to the revue.

"Meals Don't Scare Me Now," Says Retired Ohio Farmer

Lexington resident has no fear of the old distress since Vendol brought such excellent relief from troubles in the stomach.

MR. JOHN HOFFMAN

It may be all right for some people to go through life suffering from constipation which accounts for upset digestion, feeling run down and below par, but soon or late, something must be done about it. It was because Mr. John Hoffman, aged 78, a retired farm owner residing at Lexington, a few miles from Mansfield, got gratifying relief by taking Vendol when it seemed nothing else he tried would relieve him, that he is now so enthusiastic about this grand Root, Herb and Alkaline medicine.

In conversation with the Vendol Man who is meeting local people daily at Central Dry Store, Mr. Hoffman said:

"For the past several years I had been constipated and lately this condition began to make me suffer with other ailments. I had a poor appetite and the small meals I forced down, invariably distressed me with indigestion, heavy feeling, gas pressure around my heart, and rifting up a hot, sour liquid into my throat. I was always feeling tired and wornout, yet I seldom got restful sleep due to quivery nerves.

"Every morning I'd awaken feeling stiff and sore, and often with a headache and a dizzy feeling. My tongue was coated and I'm sure my breath was often bad, because I had a terrible taste in my mouth.

"I read what a friend said Vendol did to relieve exactly the same condition, so I lost no time in getting some along with a box of the little Vendol laxative tablets. It seemed no time at all after Vendol got my bowels moving thoroughly, and on schedule, that all my other troubles began to improve and now I'm like myself again. Meals never scare me for I know there will be no trouble later. I feel fine and am happy to recommend such an excellent medicine as Vendol to all our citizens."

You'll never know how much good this grand medicine made from nature's Roots, Herbs and Alkalines, can do for you till you give it a chance. It is sold by all leading druggists and the Vendol Man is daily at Central Drug Store, Cor. Main & Fourth Sts., to explain all about it. Don't delay seeing him.

OHIO THEATER CELEBRATES 11TH ANNIVERSARY

Warner Brothers Ohio theater is 11 years old today.

Opening on Jan. 19, 1928 as the "house of hits" it is still one of the two first-run theaters in Mansfield. Since its opening Warner Brothers have acquired two other houses in Mansfield; they are operators of the Madison theater, also a first run house, and own the Majestic, a second and third run house.

The Ohio opened two years after Warner Brothers made motion picture history by introducing talking pictures. It is interesting to know that this world-famous trio of brothers—Harry, who is president; Jack, vice president; and Albert, who is treasurer—is a Buckeye "production."

The Brothers Warner were raised in Youngstown, with no particular advantages of money or position, and while all of them are still comparatively young, have become millionaires and wield a world-wide influence in the industry.

With a fourth brother, the late Sam Warner, the quartet launched into the motion picture industry in 1903 by pooling their resources and leasing a theater. Their first theater was a tiny house in New Castle, Pa. A sister, Rose, played the piano and Jack sang illustrated songs.

They had been well established as producers, however, before the momentous date, Aug. 6, 1926, when they presented the first Vitaphone talking "short," in their own theater in New York City.

Then came the first all-talking feature, "The Jazz Singer," with Al Jolson. It was the pioneering Warners who produced Max Reinhart's "Midsummer Night's Dream," the first great Shakespearean film.

It was Warners who first went in for authentic picturized biographies which resulted in such films as "Pasteur" and "Emile Zola."

Three employes of the Ohio theater have been with the house since its opening. They are Rae Davidson, cashier; Harvey Kibler, projectionist; and Tom Fike, stage manager.

Other members of the present staff are William Dworski who recently replaced Frank Harpster who was made district manager; Harold Old, assistant manager; Marjorie Brooks, cashier; William Knarr, doorman, Nicholas Baki, Earl Deems and William Condon, ushers; Howard McAllister and Harry Delaney, projectionists; and George Warner, custodian.

The birthday anniversary will be celebrated by presenting a stage show—"Broadway After Dark"—for two days, starting today, and with favors for members of the audiences. There will be a big birthday cake in the lobby and ice cream favors for patrons.

Continuing their policy of presenting the best of the current crop of pictures, produced by their own studios and other major companies, the management announces a few of the big attractions scheduled for the Ohio this season.

Among them are "Kentucky," all-color with Loretta Young and Richard Greene; "Idiot's Delight," Gable and Shearer; "Jesse James" with Tyronne Power; "Honolulu," with Eleanor Powell and many others.

Beginning tomorrow, Warner Brother's Ohio Theater will celebrate its 11th birthday anniversary, with a big stage show, and ice cream favors for its patrons.

The Ohio Theater, the first modern theater in Mansfield was opened Jan. 19th, 1928, near the end of the silent picture era, and has since kept apace with every modern advancement in the field of talking pictures. Constant improvements have been made in its equipment and service, to provide the maximum of entertainment satisfaction.

The theater was opened under the management of Harry Brown, jr. Frank Harpster, who was recently made district manager for Warners, set an unusual record by remaining in charge of the theater for almost seven years. He was succeeded a few weeks ago by Wiliam Dworski, present manager.

In observance of this anniversary, a huge birthday cake with 11 candles will be on display in the lobby from Thursday until Sunday, when it will be cut and served to patrons, with ice cream favors.

"Broadway After Dark", said to be one of the best revues on the road this year, will be presented Thursday and Friday.

It includes five all-star acts, besides a swing band and a chorus of 10 girls. "Mr. Moto's Last Warning" will be shown on the screen.

New Dealers Begin Uphill Fight to Restore WPA Cut

LITTLE CHANCE SEEN TO BOOST HOUSE FIGURE

Senate to Keep Appropriation at $725,00,000, Capital Observers Predict.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—Senate administration leaders started an uphill fight today in support of President Roosevelt's request for an emergency appropriation of $875,000,000 to carry on the WPA until June 30.

It was generally conceded, however, that the odds were against the administration's effort to increase the $725,000,000 fund voted by the house. The indications were that almost all of the 23 Republicans will vote for the $725,000,000 total. With the Democratic ranks split wide open, a combination of Democrats and Republicans, like the one that triumphed in the house, could defeat the president's recommendations.

Appeal for Backing.

House Democrats who voted for the $725,000,000 fund, were reported to have appealed to their senate colleagues to vote likewise, so as not to put them "on the spot." If the senate changes the figure the bill must go back to the house for another vote.

The senate appropriations subcommittee began consideration of amendments today, with a poll of the members disclosing a majority standing pat for $725,000,000. Some want to increase the amount; others to reduce it, but the concensus was the final figure approved would be $725,000,000.

Chairman Adams (D) of Colorado, who conferred with President Roosevelt last night on the bill, had yet to make up his mind today on the amount of money the measure should carry.

Senators favoring the $725,000,000 figure challenged the administration's estimate that from 1,000,000 to 1,250,000 WPA workers and their dependents would have to be cut off from relief if the senate approves the $150,000,000 reduction voted by the house. They estimated that only about 600,000 enrollees would be dropped—the usual number, they contended, that are discharged from the relief rolls in the spring to enter private employment with the seasonal business pickup.

Urges Memorial For Wrights On Dome of Capitol

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Rep. Thomas A. Jenkins, R., O., said today it was about time the government paid fitting tribute to the contribution two Ohio boys, Orville and Wilbur Wright, made to the history of mankind.

He proposed that $20,000 be spent in the unfinished portion of the great frieze under the capitol dome a representation of the airplane's place in modern life.

The frieze depicts important events in American history beginning with the landing of Columbus. A statement from Jenkins' office asserted that he was particularly interested in the proposed addition because the first airplane "was invented and operated by two Ohio boys, the famous Wright brothers, Orville and Wilbur."

"The fact that Orville Wright is yet alive, and living in Dayton, O., adds personal interest to the whole story," Jenkins said.

"The story of the Wright brothers and their persistent in perfecting the airplane never fails to bring a feeling of pride to every American heart. To make this addition to this historical frieze is only fitting and proper."

A skate which is believed to be almost a century old is being displayed in the window of Yunckers sporting goods store. W. F. Untiet, Park avenue west road, found the skate while excavations were under way on his property, Wil-O-Del, which is about 200 years old. The blade on the skate is made of oak and is fashioned something like the runners on a sleigh. A leather strap held it across the toe of the shoe.

Louis Bromfield will make his first scheduled talk in Mansfield Monday evening when he addresses the Parent-Teachers association at Country Day school. His talk on schools in general should prove interesting in view of the fact that after his children had attended school in France and private schools in London, the novelist decided to bring them back to America for an American education and background. He is also scheduled to make two other appearances here next Friday—one at the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce and later in the evening at the commencement exercises at Senior high school.

POWERFULLY BUILT WOMAN SEEN AS INDIANA'S HAMMER KILLER

(By Associated Press)

INDIANAPOLIS—Investigators pictured a woman, powerful, left-handed and with a liking for bright colors, today as the possible killer of blond, 55-year-old Mrs. Carrie Lelah Romig.

Mrs. Romig's husband, Harold Daniel Romig, 28, ten-cent-store restaurant worker, found her body Tuesday night on a bed in their ground-floor apartment. She had been struck twice in the head with a claw hammer, which lay broken close by.

An unidentified man who visited her early that day came first under suspicion. A neighbor, Mrs. Clara Corey, said she had told him where Mrs. Romig lived.

A microscopic examination of the flat turned up a clue yesterday that started the hunt for a woman. A brilliant red handkerchief lay on the living room floor. Romig said his wife had none like it.

Roderick Rae, police department criminologist, said he would investigate the possibility a woman, stronger than ordinary, might be the slayer.

Deputy Coroner Norman H. Booher declared a left-handed person could have struck the fatal blows—in the right temple and the forehead—more easily than a right-handed one.

Rae, doubting robbery was the motive, planned to test this theory today by opening Mrs. Romig's safety deposit box to see whether she might have put her jewelry there.

A sister, Mrs. A. J. Wernert of Shelbyville, said she usually carried $15,000 to $16,000 in diamonds. The husband told police some of her jewels were missing.

Detectives who had questioned Romig and put him through a lie detector test freed him late yesterday and dismissed a vagrancy charge. Detective Chief Fred Simon said evidence showed he had been at the store all day.

Mrs. Von Huebner's only close relative is the nephew with whom she had made her home. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Friday at the Swank funeral home, with Rev. J. H. Kuhlman of Zion Lutheran church, of which she was a member, officiating. Burial will be in Loudonville cemetery.

FORTIFICATION OF GUAM CALLED DIRECT THREAT

Tokyo Fears Establishment of Pacific Submarine Bases, Spokesman Declares.

(By Associated Press)

TOKYO—Japan is gravely concerned by United States naval expansion plans, the naval office spokesman declared today, and fears establishment of airplane and submarine bases in the Pacific would be but advance preparation for "long distance attack."

"Fortification of Guam (1,500 miles from Japan) would be like placing a gun against the gate of a neighbor," said the spokesman, Rear Admiral Shozaburo Kanazawa.

Establishment of bases at Midway and Wake islands, he continued, would surround "our undefended Mandate islands;" fortification of Guam "in the middle of the Mandates," would seem an unnecessary way to treat Japan "in view of our policy of non-attack and non-aggression."

Points To Bars.

He emphasized that these Mandates—the South Sea islands held by Germany before the war—were unfortified and under present international agreements could not be fortified.

For this reason, the spokesman said, "Guam would have a real strategic value if fortified" although Japan's objection to expansion in the Pacific was "moral rather than legal" since no treaties exist to prevent it.

"From the experts' point of view, establishment of plane and submarine bases in the Pacific islands is nothing but making advance bases for long distance attack across the ocean," Kanazawa continued.

Of his own navy and nation he said:

"That the strength of Japan's navy is not sufficient for long distance attack across the ocean is quite clear, not only from the experts' point of view but also from a common sense viewpoint. Our national defense policy is to keep the navy strong enough to defend the western Pacific. We have no ambition to attack anything outside this area and no aggressive policy. We do not understand the necessity of expanding the United States navy with such a tremendous budget as this year."

PICK INSPECTOR

Beekeepers Meet Friday to Make Appointment.

Promised financial help by the county commissioners, Richland county beekeepers are scheduled to meet at 7 p. m. Friday at the courthouse to appoint a county bee inspector.

The bee keepers association has campaigned for an inspector for several months, and today had the promise that the county would appropriate a small amount to help pay his salary.

Commissioners, however, urged the association to name its own inspector since its members are more familiar with the requirements. The inspector would investigate bee colonies and eliminate those infested with Foul brood, a disease which destroys bees.

Charles Reese, Columbus, state bee inspector, will show motion pictures of bees at work and of honey-producing flowers at the meeting tomorrow night. Paul Leedy, secretary of the association, said.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Nazi-Fascists Seek Same Goal as Communists Here Though Method Differs

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—The most offensive and obvious fraud on earth is the pretense by the Communists, on the one hand, and the Nazi-Fascists, on the other, that they are at war on any other issue than a greedy rivalry for power.

In methods and in their scorn of principle and honest dealing the dictatorships of Berlin and Rome are exactly like their nominal enemies of Moscow, and it can be shown out of their own conduct that they employ every foul and treacherous trick that they complain of in the operations of the Communists and attribute to the Jews.

The Communists, for example, receive their political direction from Moscow and, though they may hold citizenship in the United States and swear to uphold the constitution, are relentless enemies of the American form of government and the freedom and peace of the people. The Nazis and Fascists, who condemn and pretend to hate this deceit, nevertheless follow the same course in this and other foreign lands.

* * *

The Nazi laws permit and encourage tested Nazis in foreign countries to become citizens, but require them to remain German nevertheless and to extend themselves in the interests of Naziism to the injury of their adopted lands. This cannot be done without descent to the very same mental reservation and perjury which Nazi agents in this country profess to loathe in the Communists and vice versa, and the anti-American bunds are identical with the Communist groups in their hatred of the United States and their purpose to shatter the country by internal hatreds.

* * *

If Communists worm their way into normally American groups and by disciplined effort under foreign direction present convert some Americans to their beliefs and manipulate the unsuspecting remainder, imposing on their honest hatred of Nazi-Fascism, the same method is used by the Nazis and Fascists. For every detached and outwardly innocent group of Americans who think they are serving some decent cause in an organization nominally devoted to Americanism and democracy, but are actually being used by Moscow, there is at least one similar group serving Hitler or Mussolini in the same way.

The sameness is evident again in the loud and angry enthusiasm of the Communists and their "fellow-travelers" for proposals made in Washington which have the aim of instituting here government controls which they pretend to detest in Berlin and Rome but indorse in Moscow.

The Nazi-Fascist groups also have their "fellow-travelers" who disguise themselves as constitutional Americans and, like the Communists, look to a day when they may rise to power and change the constitution to suit their ends.

And, like the Communists, they also have their innocent and deluded adherents of conscientious Americans who have been attracted to anti-American organizations professing to desire to save the country from Communism by resort to Nazi-Fascism.

* * *

In their dealings with this and other countries Germany and Italy have been guilty of the same thefts that they profess to resent in Moscow and which they describe as the cunning and contemptible inventions of the Communist.

For it makes little difference whether foreign property be confiscated outright by revolution or first detained and gradually stolen by the invention of new laws. To the victim there is only a question of whether he prefers to be robbed with a blackjack or a gun, and to the slight credit of the Communists, if any distinction can be drawn, it must be allowed that they went straight to the point and said, "This is a stickup."

* * *

So far as the effect on this country is concerned, they leave no preference. Even when Communists do invade labor organizations and the WPA their constant effort is to widen their influence, disrupt and destroy, which, after all, is the purpose of the Nazis and Fascists in our midst.

In the matter of persecution abroad no Communist anywhere has any right to complain of anything that Hitler or Mussolini has done, and the Nazis and Fascists, having used the same brutal ways, are equally at a loss.

But in our own midst it is always true that no Communist or Fascist or any "fellow traveler" of either side ever has any kind intention, and anyone who finds himself unwilling to oppose both sides with equal fervor must be suspected of approving the evils common to both.

Hollywood Speaks—

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—The screen owes much of its early prosperity to slapstick comedy, and yet no form of acting has treated its stars so shabbily, taken together, as has slapstick.

Of a score or so of the town's famous funny men, who made another generation roar and roll in the aisles, only Charlie Chaplin and Harold Lloyd can be considered stars today—and even these are but periodically active. These two alone have come through their long careers with sizable fortunes, and it may be significant that, of them all, only Chaplin and Lloyd were astute enough to add other qualities to their slapstick. With Lloyd this extra something was clever situation; with Chaplin it was situation and an approach which critics hailed as "artistic."

The sagas of slapsticks are filled with tragic tales, which might explain why practically all movie funny man carry the faces (when off guard) of men who expect to lose their last friend and dollar simultaneously.

* * *

Early in the Chaplin career a potent rival was the French comic, Max Linder. Brought to America, Linder was given a production far exceeding in cost anything that had been done for Chaplin, but his expensive movie failed to impress—Chaplin's baggy pants and big shoes went on to fame, Linder chose suicide.

Famous as Chaplin was Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle, driven from the screen and from wealth by scandal, later to die while attempting a comeback, as a director, under an assumed name.

Bobby Vernon, once a hero of the flickering two-reelers, must have been a prophet, and a wise one. He got out, in time, and is now a successful gag-writer—for other comedians. Buster Keaton, ten years ago a comedy star, hit the skids and looked destined for oblivion. But he has turned to writing and directing, and is launched on his new career.

Harry Langdon is another — but he's an exception, too. Resigned to the obscurity of a minor writer's job, Harry has made a comeback. It must be a success because Hal Roach has renewed his contract. And if ever a comedian was "washed up" in the minds of producers, it was Langdon.

While its devotees have fared variously, but mostly badly, at its hands, slapstick itself has undergone a major change on the screen. Except for last year, when the town's biggest dramatic stars went on an orgy of slapstick in the "zany" cycle, the old screen standby has lost its potency.

And the King of Slapstick—the same Mack Sennett who once parted company with D. W. Griffith because he thought he'd like to make funny pictures about funny cops—is around town. The originator of the Keystone Kops, the daddy of the movie bathing beauty and hence of all the present-day "leg art" in the rotogravure sections, is around town looking for a producing connection.

Wife Won't Divorce Him For Vamp

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

My husband is good looking, a born humorist, and knows how to hand out compliments — which makes all women adore him. One of these women had an affair with him, and I was just at the point of getting a divorce, when I got my Irish up. She was so anxious to marry him that she came over and suggested a divorce. It made me so angry that I almost knocked her down. But I kept my temper and smilingly said: "Sorry but I just can't see my way clear to accommodate you.

Of course, she tearfully left, and said that I was abominable. But I just couldn't do it. I had to think of my two children, so I just forgave him and now I'm doing my best to forget the affair, as he says he is trying to do. But, I know how he likes the women, so it wouldn't surprise me if he repeated his folly with this or some other woman. Do you think I did right to stay with him?

DISILLUSIONED.

My dear, this is the age of wild women and easy divorces, and I think you were very clever to answer this person as you did. A woman with children to think of can't leave her home every time a vamp succeeds in making a fool of her husband. There is always one around, looking for a break, and I'm glad you turned her down flat in her request for a divorce.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, January 20.

AN EVENTFUL and exciting day is presaged from the extremely lively planetary configurations. There are signs of sudden and drastic activities, threatening to turn things upside down generally, and with no mild reactions. Good fortune, new achievements, promotion or dramatic situations are in sight, with elders or strangers probably figuring in the excitement and upheaval. It may be that the undercurrents may be psychological or subtle, but they are distinctly evolutionary.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a year of surprising and exciting developments, with matters assuming unusual or drastic force, with dramatic and thrilling situations as well as quite unpredictable. There are factors of the psychological or subtle, and strangers as well as olders figure vitally. Withal look for radical change, promotion, creative fulfillments and good luck.

A child born on this day will be original, inventive, practical as well as subtle, shrewd, inclining toward strategem and politics or other brilliant career. It may be mystically inclined and of fine emotional expression.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

Despite Mary's apparent merriment, I thought I detected a note of bitterness in her voice as she quoted "On with the dance," after Noel had literally turned his back upon us and our proposed attempt to rehearse the dance which I intended to interpolate in her role in my play.

"It isn't necessary to go on with it, Mary," I said, my own heart bitter against the real disgust which Noel had evinced toward the dancing costume—or lack of it—in which Mary appeared upon her entrance into the sitting room of their hotel suite, ready for the rehearsal I had planned—as a pleasure to her young husband. I reminded myself ironically, "We can just as well take up the going-over of the lines instead."

"We can just as well NOT," Mary snapped, betraying the frayed edges of her sorely-tried temper. "I've shoved myself into this rig with a shoe horn, and, by gum, I'm not going to take it off again until it's earned its keep. So strum your mandolin, little one. I'm going places!"

"You know what killed the well-known cat?" she murmured from the side of her mouth. "Well! that's what I'm counting on to turn a trick in this particular game. That, and the fact that Noel has the most active and admonitory conscience known to fame. In about five minutes he's going to begin to feel remorseful. Then, if you make extra loud noises on that mandolin, he's going to get his curiosity excited—the music for this dance is awfully effective you know — and with the combination of the two things—well! just watch what may happen!"

I saw Mary's pirouetting figure stiffen ever so slightly, and saw her eyes go to the door of my room into which Noel had gone.

It was slightly ajar. Not only that, it was moving! In another second it had opened to its full width, and Noel stood in the doorway, remorseful apology replacing the wrath which had before darkened his face.

He put up his hand in appealing protest as Mary halted her steps ever so slightly.

"Don't stop!" he said. "Please go on to the end!"

Without pausing again, Mary swept into one of her most intricate movements, and as she did so she put her hands to her lips and threw him a kiss. The gesture spelled forgiveness—and understanding — and I saw by the light that came into Noel's eyes that once again "God was in heaven, and all was right with the world," at least that part of it which belonged to him.

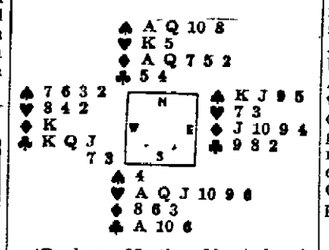
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

ONCE IN A BLUE MOON

A so-called "trump squeeze" is seen only once in the proverbial blue moon. It is a gorgeous play, really known clearly to only the most skilled cardsmen. It differs from most other squeezes in one respect. If the squeezed player makes a discard from a certain suit, the declarer is put in a position where he can establish a winner there by ruffing the suit, thus disposing of the last remaining card of it held by the defender.



(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

Here North bid 1-Diamond, South 1-Heart, West 2-Clubs, North 2-Spades, South 4-Hearts and North 6-Hearts, which East doubled. Among fine players such a double of a slam bid, since so many points are already at steak, usually calls for some lead other than the natural one, its purpose being to help beat the contract rather than increase the value of tricks taken. West, however, made his natural lead of the club K.

In the South a very fine player, Charles Lochridge, winner of many national titles, decided that East probably had the spades covered, so decided to try to build a delayed squeeze. He let West win the first club, then took the second with his A, ruffed a club with the heart K, then ran his hearts, watching discards carefully.

As he played the heart 9 for the eighth trick, he also held the heart 6, three diamonds and his spade, the dummy three spades and three diamonds, one of the latter being thrown on the trick. East now had to choose between his three spades and three diamonds. If he threw one of the diamonds, South's 8 would be the final trick. If he tossed a spade, a lead to the A and a ruff would set up the Q. East picked the diamond. A diamond lead, prepared to finesse, brought the K and A, then the spade A, the diamond Q, a spade ruff and the diamond 8 completed the contract.

New Ideas For Tasty Tidbits

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

Today we offer you our fruit basket from which you may select a recipe or two that may please you.

If you want to put some sandwiches in the lunch box for the children, then try a filling that is as nutritious as it is tasty. Date-nut butter sandwiches require one-half cup pitted dates, three-quarter cup nutmeats, one-quarter teaspoon salt, two tablespoons cream cheese, bread and butter. Put dates and nutmeats through the food chopper twice, using a fine cutter. Add the salt and mix with cream cheese just before using (if too thick add a little cream). Spread on buttered bread slices.

Date Sticks.

Or put some date sticks in the box and give the kids a sweet surprise. To make 48 sticks you will require one and one-quarter cups sifted cake flour, one and one-quarter teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, one cup sugar, two well-beaten eggs, one tablespoon melted butter, two cups finely-cut dates, one-half cup broken nutmeats and one tablespoon hot water. Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt and sift together three times. Add sugar gradually to eggs. Add butter. Beat in dates and nuts. Add flour alternately with hot water, beating well after each addition. Divide mixture into two greased pans, 8x8x2 inches, spreading batter thin. Bake in slow oven (325 F.) 30 to 35 minutes. Cool. Cut in strips. Remove in pans. Roll in powdered sugar.

Orange Skillet Sponge.

Orange skillet sponge is bound to play a return engagement on your table if you serve it once. Melt two tablespoons butter in iron frying pan, add three-quarter cup brown sugar and stir until well blended. Arrange on this enough orange segments to cover bottom of the pan. Place one-quarter cup nutmeats between segments and about seven maraschino cherries around to form a design. Beat three egg yolks until light. Slowly add one-half cup sugar and one-quarter teaspoon lemon extract, then one and one-half cups flour which has been sifted with one teaspoon baking powder three times. Stir in one-half cup boiling water and fold in three stiffly-beaten egg whites. Pour over orange sugar mixture in pan and bake in 375 F. oven 45 to 55 minutes.

The ordinary flower pot is the best thing to plant seeds in the house in. The soil must be good and firm in the pot and it must be well drained. Sift earth and use the coarse stuff in the bottom of the pot. Pots may be moved from place to place and slow growers if planted in individual pots do not need to be disturbed.

New High Note In Evening Attire Worn In East

By SUSAN BARDEN

(International Ill. News Writer)

NEW YORK — Low-necked evening clothes are now being worn only on the most formal occasions. The social register set as well as the Hollywood stars are featuring dresses with high necks and sleeves, some of which come right down to the wrist and others that come half way down the upper arm.

So if you want to be in the know you'll show no expanse of gleaming white skin either in front or back when you go dining or to the cafes.

Betty Ann Davis has chosen a smart cocktail suit that is strictly tailored It is made of black velvet, with Swiss appliqued embroidery adding a bright touch at the neck and on the pockets. The football slippers are black with an intricate design of rhinestones that give them a rich and luxurious appearance as they peep out from under the folds of the skirt. Glittering costume earrings and bracelet complete the ensemble.

Beatrice Imhoff is wearing an evening gown that is a perfect sample of the new trend. It is made of white jersey with a high neck and short little sleeves. The girdle boasts Swiss embroidery and comes at the natural waistline, though it is high waisted in effect. The skirt is wide and flowing and the little tucks at the shoulders and over the bust give a graceful and flattering line.

This is a perfect type dress for the girl who thinks she's a little too chesty. The heavy-looking costume jewelry adds a great deal to the beauty of the costume. Beatrice is wearing a gold bracelet from which dangle many little balls, and her necklace is also gold.

Rosalind Russell has selected another high neck model. This dinner dress features the new low waistline. In design it is reminiscent of the styles worn during the war. But it has the jump on the dresses of 20 years ago because it is long, and therefore much more graceful.

The diagonal treatment in the waistline in the above dress is both alluring and unusual. The gown is made of gold lame and has a drooped shoulder line and long tight sleeves. Many yards of material form the skirt which falls in folds to the floor. An antique jeweled necklace and bracelet are the only ornamental trim.

Treatment To Overcome Oily Skin

By MME. QUI VIVE

It may be a comfort to the victim of the oily skin to be told that it won't fold up and wrinkle as early as the dry one. This fact may console her when she is wielding the powder pad in the hope of putting off the dull finish. Unfortunately, the lovely powdery effect doesn't last. Oil glands go on gushing. They make a woman mad or sad, depending on the state of mind.

Massage is helpful because it whips up the blood streams, brings skin soft tissues and fibers to a state of well being. Cold water and ice rubs are highly recommended to keep sebaceous glands from over working. Soap of course must be used freely.

A saturate solution of boric acid discourages oiliness. Place one teaspoon of powdered boric acid in a porcelain sauce pan—aluminum won't do—add one cupful of boiling water, simmer for half a minute until the powder dissolves. Cool, strain through muslin, apply with absorbent cotton twice a day, preferably after a cold rinsing.

Eau de cologne is a good friend. After soap is used, dip a soft cloth in eau de cologne, pass it over the skin surface lightly giving it a dry cleaning. Keep away from the eyes; the alcoholic content will make them smart like all get out.

Rosewater and orange flower water, equal parts, have helped many a woman to tone down the beaming countenance. Apply with gauze, wipe away with cleansing tissues.

A diet that is too rich in fats may be the cause of an oily skin. Best to cut down on them anyway, as they pack adipose tissues over the svelte anatomy. Pastries should be limited.

The daily bath is a necessary factor in treatment of oily skin. It relieves the stress and strain of the more delicate glands of the face by stimulating the skin over the entire body surface.

Drink six glasses of water a day. Water is good for you, inside and out. Many a shining phiz has turned over a new leaf and reformed when its victim has become a steady water guzzler.

In filling an icebag the best way is to make a small bag of canvas, put some pieces of ice in it, and pound the ice into small pieces. A metal hammer will not cut the cloth.
